Echoes

"Echoes - why is the theme echoes?" you may be wondering. Or you may be thinking that echoes would be a great theme for somewhere like Mountainview. Well, we chose echoes because there are so many meanings that apply to students at Granite.

First, the changes we make in our school will echo for generations - just as we have carried on the traditions from the past generations.

Second, as we travel throughout the Salt Lake Valley, as well as the United States, our lives will echo the things we have been taught here at Granite.

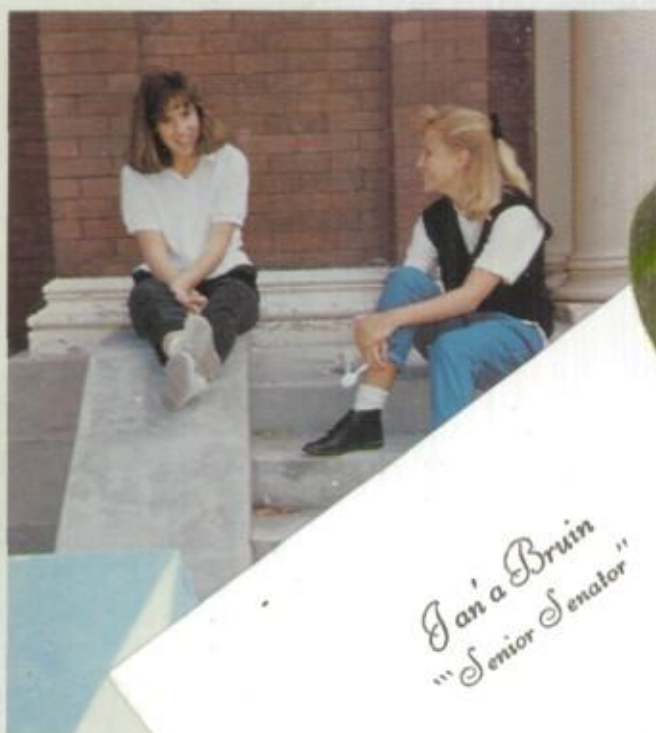

Third, Seniors will graduate and move on to colleges and jobs. As they share their ideas will echo throughout society and may return just a little bit changed; just as when you yell your echo always comes back slightly changed.

Fourth, like echo patterns, Granite students will spread their dreams across the United States and maybe even foreign nations. Who knows? The next actress or astronaut may be sitting right next to you in math class. As you graduate and get your yearbook signed a future governor may be signing your yearbook.

So, as you are out wandering the halls of Granite enjoy this time for when we go out into the world we will echo the things we have learned here. Our ideas will spread throughout the nation as we vote in upcoming elections and make decisions in new jobs. Let our echoes show others the pride and joy we take in being Granite High alumni.

Rob,
 Just met u →

→ Back to School ←

Hours, weeks, and months ticked away while Granite High students enjoyed the summer with the usual zeal. They were doing anything and just about everything. But, the time flew by bringing us ever closer to the reality of Granite High halls.

As the very first day began, hundreds of sophomores were seen lining up to ask their counselors questions. Not one of them found their home room, and many had already lost their schedules. They all clung to the walls in fear of being squashed by the seniors. Most managed to get through the day with minor wounds. Daily, this terror faced sophomores as they moved from class to class grateful they were alive, but wishing they were back in junior high.

Juniors returned to Granite High with new confidence. They were one big step ahead of the sophomores and only one small step behind the seniors. After suffering through a whole year of being a sophomore, they just achieved a major break through on their pathway to adulthood. But, for now they are contented with the thought that some day they too will be seniors.

With the beginning of school, many seniors with high hopes chased the dream of passing all their classes, and yes, even GRADUATING! To accomplish this fantasy, they labored incessantly. Hours of study time were spent as well as sleepless nights to accomplish this goal. But, in spite of all the studying they did they still found time to torture the sophomores. After all, they earned it. They were once sophomores too, and the time for revenge was nigh. The senior class of '87 was filled with excitement and anticipation for the year ahead. They were a great example to all at Granite High.

Over all, the '86-'87 school year started with a bang! The Hello Stomp and assembly were big successes. They gave the studentbody an opportunity to see old friends and make new friends. The whole studentbody was psyched as the new year began!

Welcome back! Students at Granite look forward to the upcoming year.

Summer's over? You wouldn't know it by looking at these smiling students.

Let's go cross country. Jenifer Howlett, Kassie Nielson, Wendy Wadsworth, and Peggy McAllister prepare for the meet.

Left: C'mon kids. Rosemary Veal and Myrna Finau check out balloons for the Hello Day Stomp. Above: Are you kidding me? Mr. Padjen refuses to make class changes

Activities

Our activities this year were really outrageous! Everyone participated to show how spirited the students are at G.H.S.

Some of the favorite activities this year were Senior Week, the olympics, and of course Junior Prom.

Club Rush Day was a new activity tried out by the studentbody officers. All the clubs displayed booths which gave students information on the different clubs.

The activities will long be remembered as we think back fondly to the year '86-'87 at G.H.S.

"We've got spirit -
Yes we do,
We've got spirit -
How 'bout you?"

This question never needed to be asked at Granite High.

We enjoyed a fun filled year
as we attended pep assemblies, pep rallies, and games.

Support for our teams never failed as our crowd many times outnumbered our opponents. One cheer that was quite common was, "We love

our team, we love our team,
WE LOVE OUR TEAM!!!"
This was especially true as we showed our support no matter whether we won or lost.

Throughout the year not only the crowd, but each team's support was shown.

The spirit we shared will long be remembered as we fondly recall our high school years.

Spirit

"It's a time out so shout it out ..."
Varsity cheerleaders get crowd psyched during a pep assembly.

Let's score! The crowd anxiously awaits another great play by the Farmers.

Above: WOW!! Kyle Nielson and Mario Caligiuri check out the next queen candidate. Right: And the winner is ... Wendy Wadsworth stands to be crowned Granite's new queen.

Homecoming

Burn baby burn! Students at Granite watch a Cyprus dummy burn at the night pep rally.

Homecoming was the best time of the year. All the alumni came back and lots of great activities were planned.

Although the sound system was bad, the alumni assembly was really neat. All the old friends put their heads together and gave us one terrific show.

Farmer's Market was lots of fun. Many clubs served good food. The most wanted item was Mario Caligiuri and Moses Tauteoli. They were sold by DECA for over $50.

The Queen's Assembly was a real smash! Everyone anxiously waited to find out who the new homecoming queen would be. Then it was announced: Suzanne Witbeck, 2nd attendant; Diana Zermeno, 1st attendant; and Wendy Wadsworth was crowned as queen.

School spirit filled the air as everyone watched the Cyprus dummy burn at the night pep rally. This traditional event got everyone psyched for the big homecoming game.

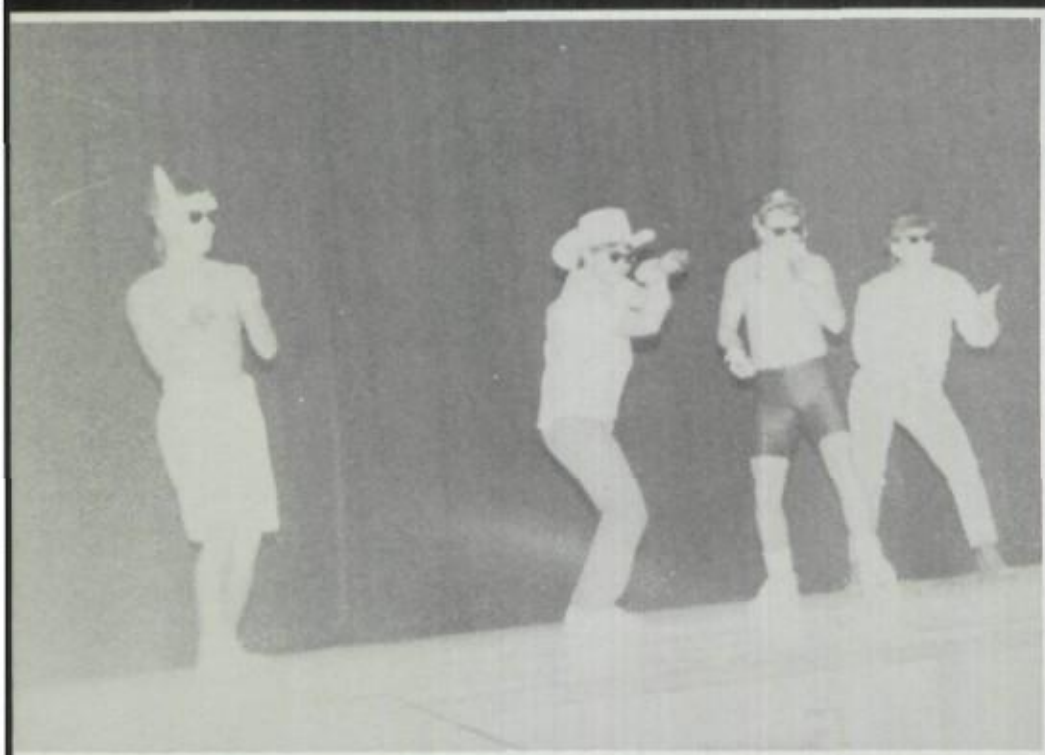

The football game was tough. Though we lost, everyone felt good about the effort our team made. The week was topped off by the Homecoming Dance. Homecoming was a great experience people got reacquainted as they remembered old times - good and bad.

Come on big blue let's go! Cheerleaders promote spirit at Homecoming game.

Assemblies

"What do you think of assemblies?" Here are some of our replies:

"It was a good time to do homework; too bad there weren't more of them - like one every day!" - Drew Armstrong

"I don't know - I slept through all of them." - Penny Nadeau

"Assemblies really got us psyched for a better learning experience." - Sharon Day

"They were ok - they got me out of class - that was all I cared about. (I have had a bad case of senioritis.)" - Jenna Baumgart

"They were alright!" - Warren Hutchison

"I like how it makes the classes shorter." - Christine Clark

"Without assemblies most kids would have been bored with school." - Louisa Alleman

No matter how opinions differed, all were glad we had assemblies.

Victory-victory-victory. Sophomores and j.v.'s build a pyramid.

Style

Robert! they cut it! it's been real cool this year with you! it's just to bad we weren't the best of friends all year but come over alot this summer in swim! pets clo tons of things-kl.

Top: What a truck! Students promote the western style. Bottom: Styles are forever. Traditional letterman's jacket outlives fads.

As you walk down the halls of Granite High School you are bound to encounter a kaleidoscope of fashions from punk to preppie, new wavers and rockers. From trendie to conservatives and the ever present cowboys. But of all the fads and whims of the fashion conscious people, more than ever before the conservative-traditional has held first string.

Many of the "rockers" of our school despise the pink-preppies and the unique hairdos of the new wavers. But over all the students at Granite get along quite well despite their different appearance.

The music today has a big influence on the way you dress. If you dress like your favorite rock singer you are called a "wannabe." This year at Granite High we have a wide assortment of "wannabe's." All the way from a Madonna wanna-be to a David Lee Roth wanna-be. But the majority of the Granite High students just dress the way they feel.

As the years go on and fashions get more and more extreme, so will a small group of Granite High students. And sometime in the future, there will be a group of futuristic teenie-boppers looking through an old Granite High School yearbook laughing to the point of tears at the so-called fashions of the 80's.

Student Life

Below: "What was that?" Bridgett Johnston exclaims turning away from her locker. Right: "And the next runner is ..." Uncle Jer announces the winning cross country team.

Vital Signs

Beneath the average scholarly, the intellectual, or the athletic student at Granite High School, there was a free spirited person waiting to break loose.

Granite High students always find time to shed books, pens, and paper to enjoy the non-academic side of school.

LUNCH! most people eat lunch. Some people did their homework for the next class, some congregated in the student lounge; still others walked the halls clutching a coke can, or went to the library to sleep. Roughly 35 minutes a day allowed each student to do whatever he'd like. The cafeteria serves lunch every school day of the year, but students were allowed to leave campus. For those lucky enough to own a car, or know those who did, some favorite lunch spots were the Golden Arches and Burger King. The unlucky ones (sophomores) had a very limited choice: Sunnys, 7-11, or the lunchroom. The lunch time activities at Granite were exciting. In fact, lunch was hardly boring. LUNCH: the limited time between fourth and fifth when all pent up energy was released.

LOCKERS! this was where the students at Granite High lock away their private lives. Well, maybe not as mysterious as that, but yes, lockers turned out to be a means of self expression. Everything from pictures to stickers to pinups were popular door ornaments. What's a locker without a few coke cans or big gulps? Calculators and pens were very common. Some things that found their way in didn't get out until the last week of school. LOCKERS: the closets of a student's soul. They never lacked personality.

What is Student Life? A journey into the Granite High underground. This part of school will always be looked upon as the best!

"Ahhh ..." Screamed Jennifer Kuhn, please don't make me go down sardine hall.

what's not

The Pajama Game!

All the members of the cast and crew made the musical a hit. Randy Wright performed wonderfully as the superintendent of the Sleep Tite Factory. He fell in love with Babe Williams (Cindi Brown.) As the factory headed for trouble, so did their love for each other.

Sharpshooter Professor Hines (Erik Boice) loved Gladys (Teresa Hutchings), who he was jealous of.

Hugh Black the womanizing president found almost every girl "the cutest one." Mae (Brooke Bush) finally set him straight.

The chorus, led by Ms. McAllister, and the dancers, led by Ms. Thompson did a superb job.

The stage crew with their advisor, Mr. Dalsing, worked hard - making the program, everything behind the scenes ran without a hitch.

Conducted by Mr. Webster, the orchestra marvelously performed, the songs, even though the music arrived four weeks late.

Student director Geri Holland greatly helped, both the cast and Director Mr. McCombs. As Mr. McCombs said "This is one of the very best shows we've done in years"

To Be ^{where} or not ^{when} To Be Left: Boogie! Traditional farmers love the Boot Boogie. Below: Keep up with the fads. The Ritz is the place to be.

Below: BYU is said to be "THE University of Utah" but, The U of U fans have a lot to say about that.

That is the question! The list of hang-outs this year was a long one. The most popular was still McDonald's - it beat out Sunny's 10 to 1. Many students went there during lunch to relax and have fun. The Ritz and The Boot Boogie were the two most popular places to go out and dance, to be with friends, and to have fun.

The practice of cruising State Street went out and Highland came in. But on Friday nights, cruising State was vigorously upheld by loyal farmers.

Other places where Granitians spent some fun hours were the football and basketball games. They provided a place for the students to let off some steam. All that "Hot Headedness" even helped send the basketball team to state!

Then there was the tradition of deciding which university - the U or the Y - was "the best place to show your face." The decision was 50/50 in favor of either college university.

All in all, every Granitian found their own places to be.

Left: "Which way should I go?" A West Jordan basketball player is confused by the fantastic farmer. Below: What do you think? Were the football games as much fun as the basketball games?

Above: The sun burned out on 3rd. Just kidding, Sunny's closed down. Right: McDonald's beat Sunny's! McDonald's attracted the most Granians.

BATTLE of the CLASSES

Top: YUM YUM! Blueberry pie! It's Brad Smith, Todd Duncan, and Kenny Halander's favorite. Middle: I hope it fits. Jennifer McDermott tries on her Toga. Above: TOGA! Trish Sandstrom and JaNae Hutchings are having a blast. Right: There's nothing like a cup of hot cocoa. Stacie Rasmusen and Rick Nelson are finally starting to warm up.

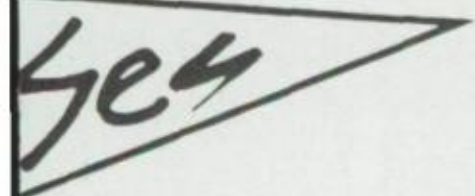

With head down and eyes darting from side to side, a Granite High Sophomore quickly hurries down the hall, dreading the thought of a passing Senior.

THIS IS IT! The unofficial Sophomore week. It's the week that all of the sophs. dread coming to school. This is because of pain inflicted by upperclassmen. But Friday is a light at the end of the tunnel. It means the end of Sophomore week and the stomp sponsored by the Sophomore presidency.

April 10th. A day to look forward to! Guys get their dates as much as a month ahead of time. Jr. Prom, the biggest dance of the year, comes at the end of Junior week. Juniors have control of the school and the great activities all week. Most Juniors are just glad that they aren't Sophomores anymore and don't have to suffer for a whole week.

The awesome Seniors came out on top as always! Senior week was filled with exciting tubing parties and pie eating contests. At the end of the week a TOGA dance was held.

Everyone joined in on the fun and it was a huge success.

"Senior week was the highlight of the whole year!" Chad Korb told us.

"I heard that the Ice-Skating was pretty great," states Bryan Kleven.

"The tubing party was a blast! I haven't had that much fun for a long time." Clark Jr.

What's In-What's Out.

Last year the yearbook staff started the student survey. This survey was well liked, so we decided to do it again. Ready?! ...

Were you aware that innies are more popular than outies, at our school anyway (belly-buttons; that is). Facts state if you have an outie- you were a cry-baby. Well, is it true?

What color are your eyes?? Brown were more common than blue, green, or hazel — but all eyes are beautiful, especially BLUE.

Jobs... Jobs... Jobs.

What is the first thing that comes to mind when you think of the words "part time job"?

For the greedy it's MONEY.

For the lazy it's WORK,
For the busy it's TIME.

A part time job is all of these things plus a lot more. Fun, educational, and graduation credits are included. Some students go to work right after school, and some take work experience. Working through Mr. G. Clark and their managers, students can earn credits towards graduation with 180 hours of work.

In the words of G. Clark, "Work experience allows a student to receive first-hand experience. Through this, students are able to learn as they apply the theories taught in class."

Above right: "Where'd you get that outrageous hat?" Rachel Hodson wants to know. Left: "I'll be with you in a minute." Julie Darger prepares to help a waiting customer.

Do you wonder where most Granitians work? Well, even if you don't we took a survey so we're going to tell you.

THEATER: Century

FAST FOOD: McDonalds

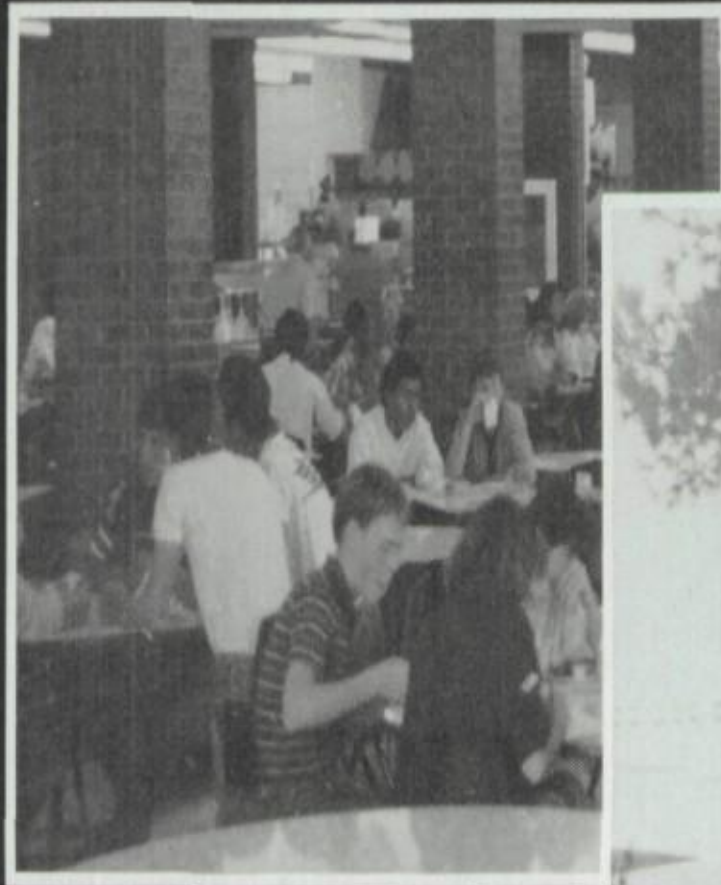

RESTAURANT: Robintinos

STORE: Sunset Sport Center

GROCERY STORE: Dan's

From the survey we took, we found that the majority of the sophomores and juniors still leech off their parents. The majority of the seniors work and are therefore more independant. But, don't feel bad you sophomores and juniors who don't have jobs, there is always next year - in the mean time you can still collect your allowance!

"The officers this year are outstanding," says advisor Mrs. Campbell. "The officers are really united, they would do anything to help make FBLA successful!" exclaimed Andy Draper.

"We do one service project throughout the year," said Mrs. Campbell. This year they went to a Rest Home. They made cookies and punch for refreshments and sang some Christmas carols. About 80 people showed up; they had a lot of fun.

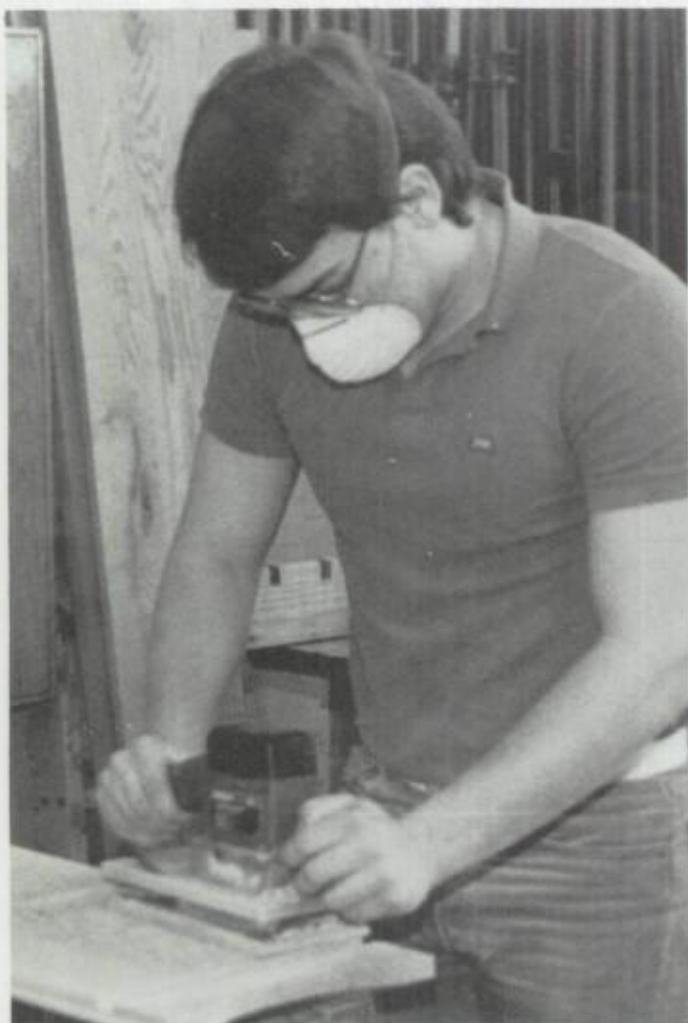

One fund raiser was the Halloween Spooky Spookgrams; Diane Brinton was named "Chief Spookygram maker", because of all the extra time she put into the project. The Spookygrams brought in more than enough money for their Thanksgiving Luncheon. For all involved — FBLA was a neat experience! They learned many valuable business and social skills.

Industrial Trades

Most people feel that only under achievers take industrial classes. Not so! Industrial Trades are for everyone. These classes are a chance for first hand experience. Wood working, plumbing, drafting, and welding are only some of the classes offered here at Granite.

Students in these classes enjoy the work they do. They are happy to learn a money-making skill that they can use for the rest of their lives! Often a student can fall back on these great skills to get through college.

Excellence Begins In V.I.C.A.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, otherwise known as V.I.C.A. is fun as well as educational. As students interest in vocational jobs increase, V.I.C.A. membership increases also.

In addition to their vocational trade, V.I.C.A. students learn to communicate, give speeches, as well as attend regional and state-wide competitions. Students and club members also learn respect both for themselves and their occupations.

Mr. Beckstrom, V.I.C.A. advisor, is a great help to members. "It's nice when you're trained to deal with people in your field and be effective!" stated Tim Miller.

Club meetings are held once a month. A special "Thank You" to the Sub for Santa Program, from the staff and families.

Senior

Senior Autographs

Robert,

Hey guy! So how's life? I'm glad I got to know you. You'd better get your butt over to my house & come see me. Remember I owe you a movie, so that means I have to see you during the summer. I'm going to come & watch all of your football games & see how you are doing. Have a great Senior year!

Love ya,
Barbie

Robert, It's been great knowing you, you're a good friend, keep in touch. We'll have to do something this summer. If you ever need anything call me. Have a great summer

Bobby

LOSERS CLUB ~!!

Jim W. Young

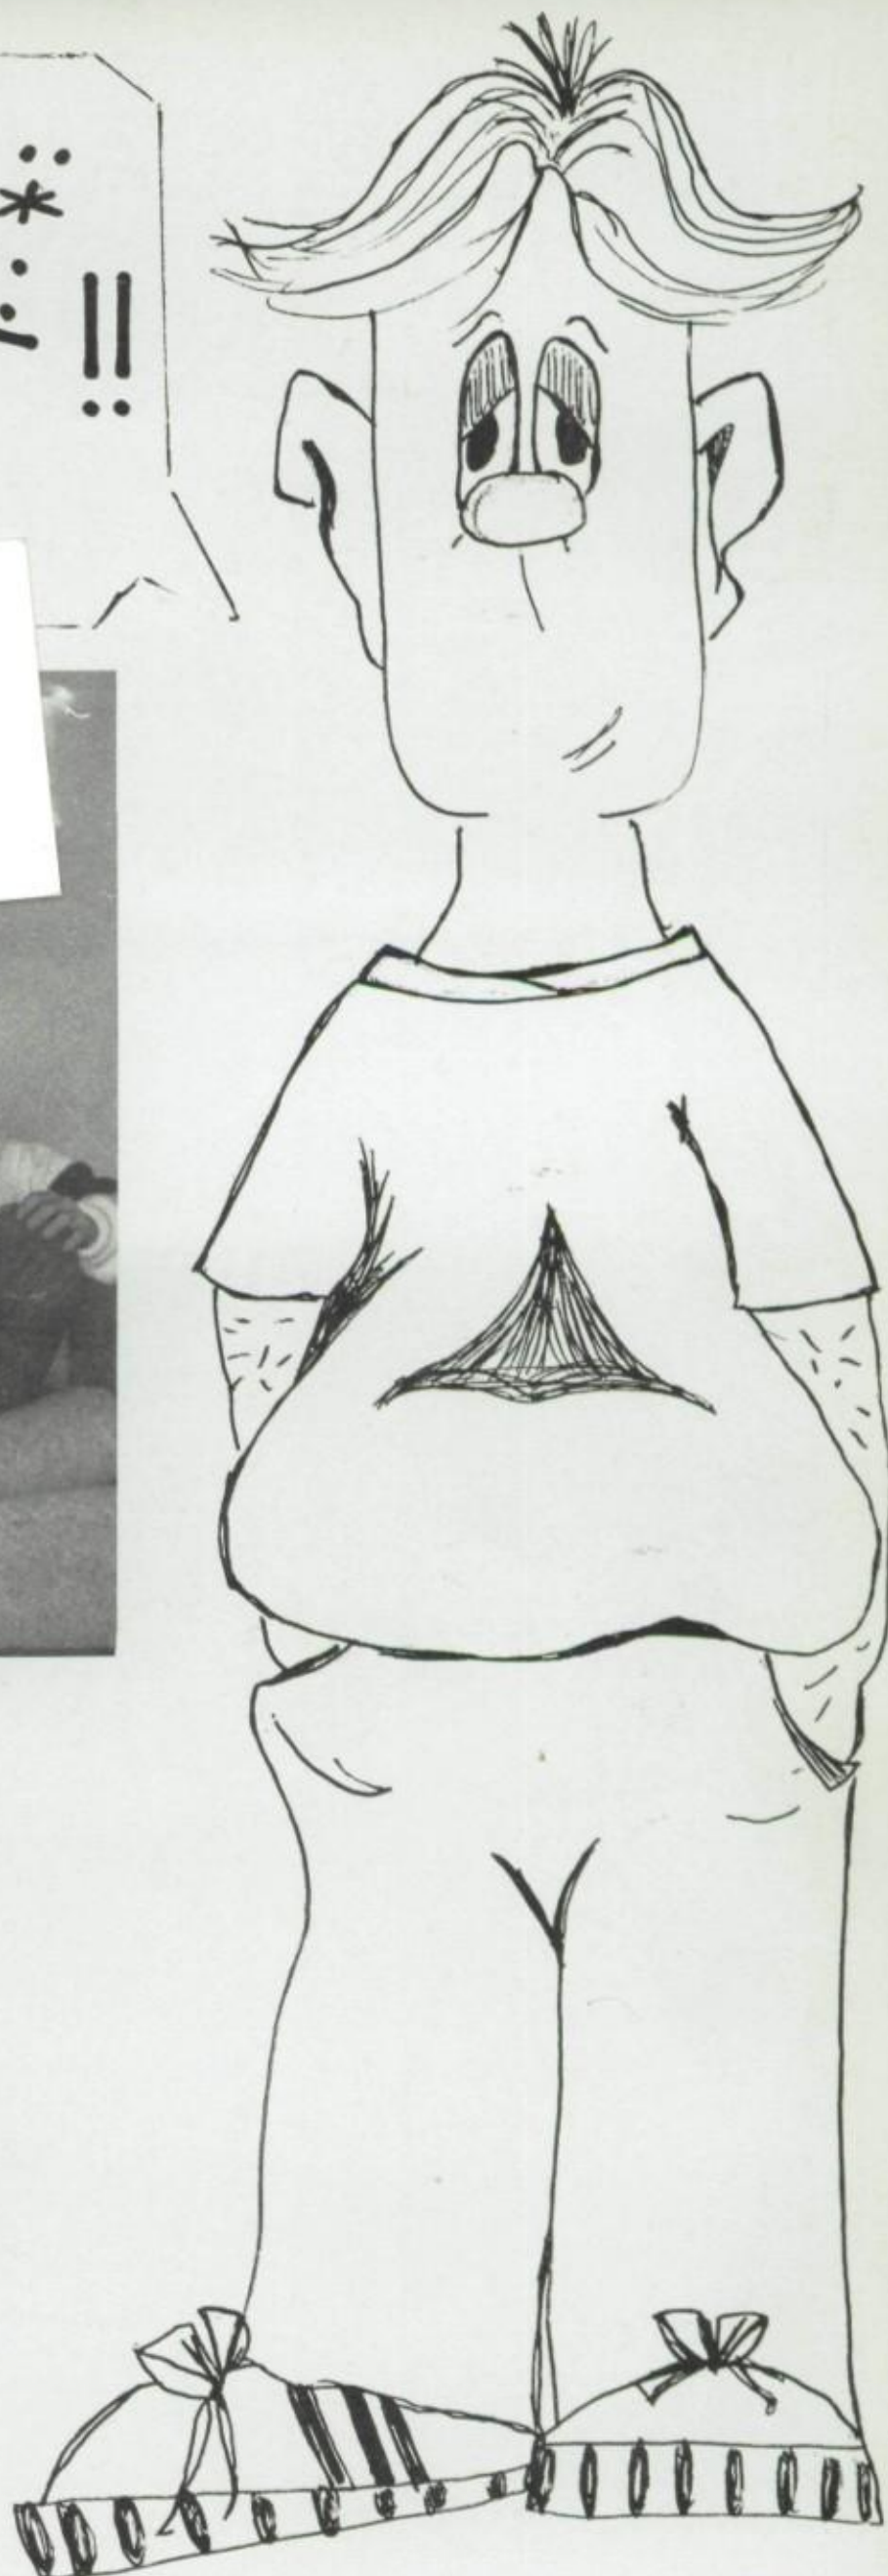

Who are Gerald Whittington and Gertrude E. Kattleman? - Don't be embarrassed if you can't answer this question. Not many people know exactly who they are. In fact, I don't think anyone has ever seen them. I've heard they're very shy. In case you were wondering, Gerald and Gertrude are the presidents of the losers club here at Granite High, they have been for many years. (He never passed drivers ed., she never passed underwater basket weaving.)

To become a member is easy - all you have to do is have a GPA and pay the 13¢ fee in pennies. Many people have been saving pennies since childhood so they will be able to belong. There's no mixing of the opposite sex at loser activities. If you've always had a fear of this, then by all means, JOIN! One last word from G. Clark, "Even the members of the losers club at Granite High are winners!"

True losers. Loser committee: Cindi Brown, Camille Smith, and Rick Meier.

Art And

The Art Department of Granite High is an excellent program. It is instructed by skilled and professional men - Mr. Snow and Mr. Oakeson. All of the students who take an art class learn a lot and enjoy themselves. The two classes offered are drawing and ceramics. Both classes are educational and tons of fun.

Future Problem Solvers/Model UN

This year the FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVERS OF AMERICA's class was small in number, but large in spirit. The students, instructed by Mrs. Anderson, learn things like creative thinking, novel writing, and architectural planning. This helps each student to be an independant leader. Students are selected for this class by their GPA's and test scores.

Mr. Whiting was the advisor for the MODEL U.N. class this year. He did a good job teaching the students write resolutions. Learning about the world problems in this class was fun! This year the class represented Trinidad, Tobago, and Asia at the annual Model U.N. meeting held at the U of U. This was a great experience for each student and it was fun too!

Hemen: Behind The Scenes!!

The Granite High Stage Crew was behind the scenes of each play that was produced. Advised by Mr. Dalsing, the stage crew built props, sets, and scenery for each activity. Students in-involved in Stage Crew also do the lighting for each school production and activity. The stage crew did a great when it wasn't always easy!

The ushers at Granite High are a good group of responsible student athletes. They are picked in order to keep organization during assemblies. They make sure everyone is on time and seated before the assemblies begins. When asked how he feels about being an usher, Jerry Silva replied, "It's not an easy job in such a rowdy school, but somebody's gotta do it!"

Creative thinkers as well as problem solvers were involved in debate as well as G.T. this year. In these programs students were allowed to express their thoughts and feelings freely. When each student entered G.T. - they had to have a specific project in mind. These two classes were limited to those students who have a mind of their own.

Another great program at Granite is drama. Many students involved in drama are thinking of doing future acting as a profession. Students are involved in many daily activities including plays, humorous readings, and speech competitions. One thing all students agree is that there is a lot of hard work, but it's worth it and they enjoy watching others goof up!

Harvest Magazine this year was one of the best ever produced. Under the direction of Mr. White, Stephanie Farr and Jennifer Birkholz did a wonderful job. Between these four groups you can see many talented people at Granite High School.

Indoor/Outdoor Sports

Checkmate! This was often exclaimed by a Granite High chess player as they tried for 1st place again this year. They went to tournaments at Olympus, Cyprus, Woodscross, Taylorsville, and of course, good ol' Granite High. Each year the biggest event for the CHESS TEAM is the State Chess Tournament. They get three hours per game and they each play eight games. "Being on the chess team takes a lot of dedication and hard work!"

The SKI CLUB this year was small, but mighty! The members were all good sports and advised by Mrs. Anderson, they managed to have a good time in spite of their small numbers. One committee member, Bridgett Johnston comments, "I hope that next year we'll get more support from the students so we can get a bigger and better club going!"

EXTRA! EXTRA!

EXTRA! EXTRA! Read all about it! That's what the students at Granite High did this year every time a new edition of The Granitian came out. The newspaper staff, advised by Mr. Roach, went the extra mile this year. The newspaper was always filled with exciting articles and pictures. They also contained special features such as movie reviews, book reviews, record reviews, cross word puzzles, and editorials.

The newspaper had great ads from local businesses around Granite High. Heidi Natter, a member of the newspaper staff remarked, "Everyone works really hard on the deadlines and we all get along."

After the deadline is completed, the staff finds the time to relax and have a pizza party. Members of the staff also enjoyed a field trip to a printing press to see how the printing process is done. The staff watched a lot of films, and read newspapers dating back to the 1600's.

The newspaper staff has done a great job this year under the direction of Mr. Roach. We enjoyed the paper this year, always looking forward to the next issue.

Yearbook Part I-Nightmare On Yearbook Staff

You saw the book . . . well, this is it! We've reaped the fruits of knowledge.

Yearbook Part II-Jenny And Rene's Revenge

To the original staff:

Lynette C. - Thank you for always leaving class as you had to prop your ankle . . . and for always telling us Lynda had the pages and you didn't know what needed to be done.

Cindy D. - Thanks for never coming to class and asking to leave before the reduction of staff.

Geri E. - Thanks for holding down the flying chair.

Dottie F. - Thanks for leaving joyfully and saying you'd help whenever needed - we'd like to inquire about mental help for Rene and I! - We are damaged for life.

Cindy G. - Thanks for leaving without telling us.

Ken M. - Thanks for not telling your dad about illegal yearbook procedures. How 'bout those love-a-grams?

Audrey P. - Thanks for socially living under trials.

Lynda S. - Thank you for your work on the faculty section.

Robert S. - Thanks for liking last years German page so much that you copied the copy word for word.

Spencer T. - Thank you for always trying to look hard at work while accomplishing nothing.

Stewart V. - Thank you for entertaining us in and out of class - how 'bout that water fountain?!

Shawna W. - Thank you for leaving with Joy and Cindy (monkey-see, monkey-do.)

A special thanks to those above for going quietly with no questions asked!!

Diane A. - Thank you for being a subtle assistant editor, for doing anything we asked, and for being a great employee as you always

"But mom," says confused Todd Duncan - "you never told me girls were strong (as he refers to Georgia Dementas and Angie Whittaker.)" had to leave to be on time. Four wheeling was fun and so was sluffing - how 'bout that graphics class?!

Yearbook Part III- Was It All Just A Dream??

Debby C. - Thanks for being one of the few, the proud, the staff (you hard worker you), we'll miss you when you join the Army.

Georgia D. - Thank you for choking each time BYU was mentioned and for swearing when the cheerleader pages weren't completed. We love those short skirts. P.S. You look gorgeous very early in the morning. Todd D. - Thank you for leaving a tail on the back of your head so we could yank it each time pictures weren't done. But really, the pictures were great!

Tim G. - Thanks for being dependable, a perfectionist, but dependable. We love those after hours.

Mike H. - We wish you were a sophomore so we'd have an excuse for pushing you around. Varsity was great - how 'bout that blind date?

Leisa H. - Thanks for telling us not to worry about it - "trust me" - the pages are done, when in reality you hadn't even started. We also liked your boyfriend and the errand before Pason.

Sam L. - Thank you for throwing your page away six times before or after I got to it - I can't remember which!! Also, for putting up with me it's not easy to having an editor for a sister. How 'bout that Sweetheart Ball? Please stay away from windows.

Karl L. - Thanks for driving Rene home - she hates to go UTA. Also, thanks for only yelling once when asked to print pictures.

Philina Mc. - Thanks for being such a jammin' groovy chick!

Tim M. - What can I say, it was great while the class lasted. Your friend sure drives crazy - Was that a corner?

Paul N. - Thanks for trying to develop pictures on your own.

Teressa P. - Now Ms. Long hates you, but for volleyball pictures the third time was the charm.

Angel Q. - Thanks for letting Rene do your DECA layout and Jenny the French. How 'bout that DECA Presidency?

Stephanie F. - Thank you for transferring in at the semester, and redoing layouts when Jenny and Rene were too lazy and burned out. How is Dan's produce?

Caroline B. - Thanks for always being lost - what's the difference between 55 W. and 5500 W.? We were only two hours late. P.S. How 'bout those figs?

Vickie H. - Thanks for being our gopher and for keeping Sam busy at the zoo. Markers are nice. P.S. Caroline is still asleep on the bus in Magna.

Rachel H. - How 'bout that temper tantrum? We really enjoyed your squealing, heavy back pack, and stomping. I'm impressed!

Angie W. - Thanks for all your diligent work even while wondering if I forgot I had a fifth period. Watch the nose!

Kiku W. - Thanks for staying after school on the last deadline - one out of five isn't bad.

Clark Jr. - Rene loves your bow tie - she thinks it makes you look younger - like about seven.

Clark Sr. - Thanks for tricking Rene and Jenny into being in the DECA competition.

Bill B. - Thanks for being so patient as we missed every deadline and for telling us we would not receive our yearbooks on time.

Jay Lynn - Thanks for printing our color pictures.

Dave Newman - Thanks for printing so many color pictures in one day - it was greatly appreciated.

Don Blair - Thanks for all your hard work. We were very thankful to get our yearbook pictures out before the burning.

Jostens - Thanks for all the nasty notes for each missing picture or caption. Thanks a ton for all your hard work!

Parlez-Vous?

The French Club had a fun and exciting year with their new teacher, Madame Le Febure. Madame Le Febure is from France and therefore brought many interesting experiences and ideas straight from her homeland.

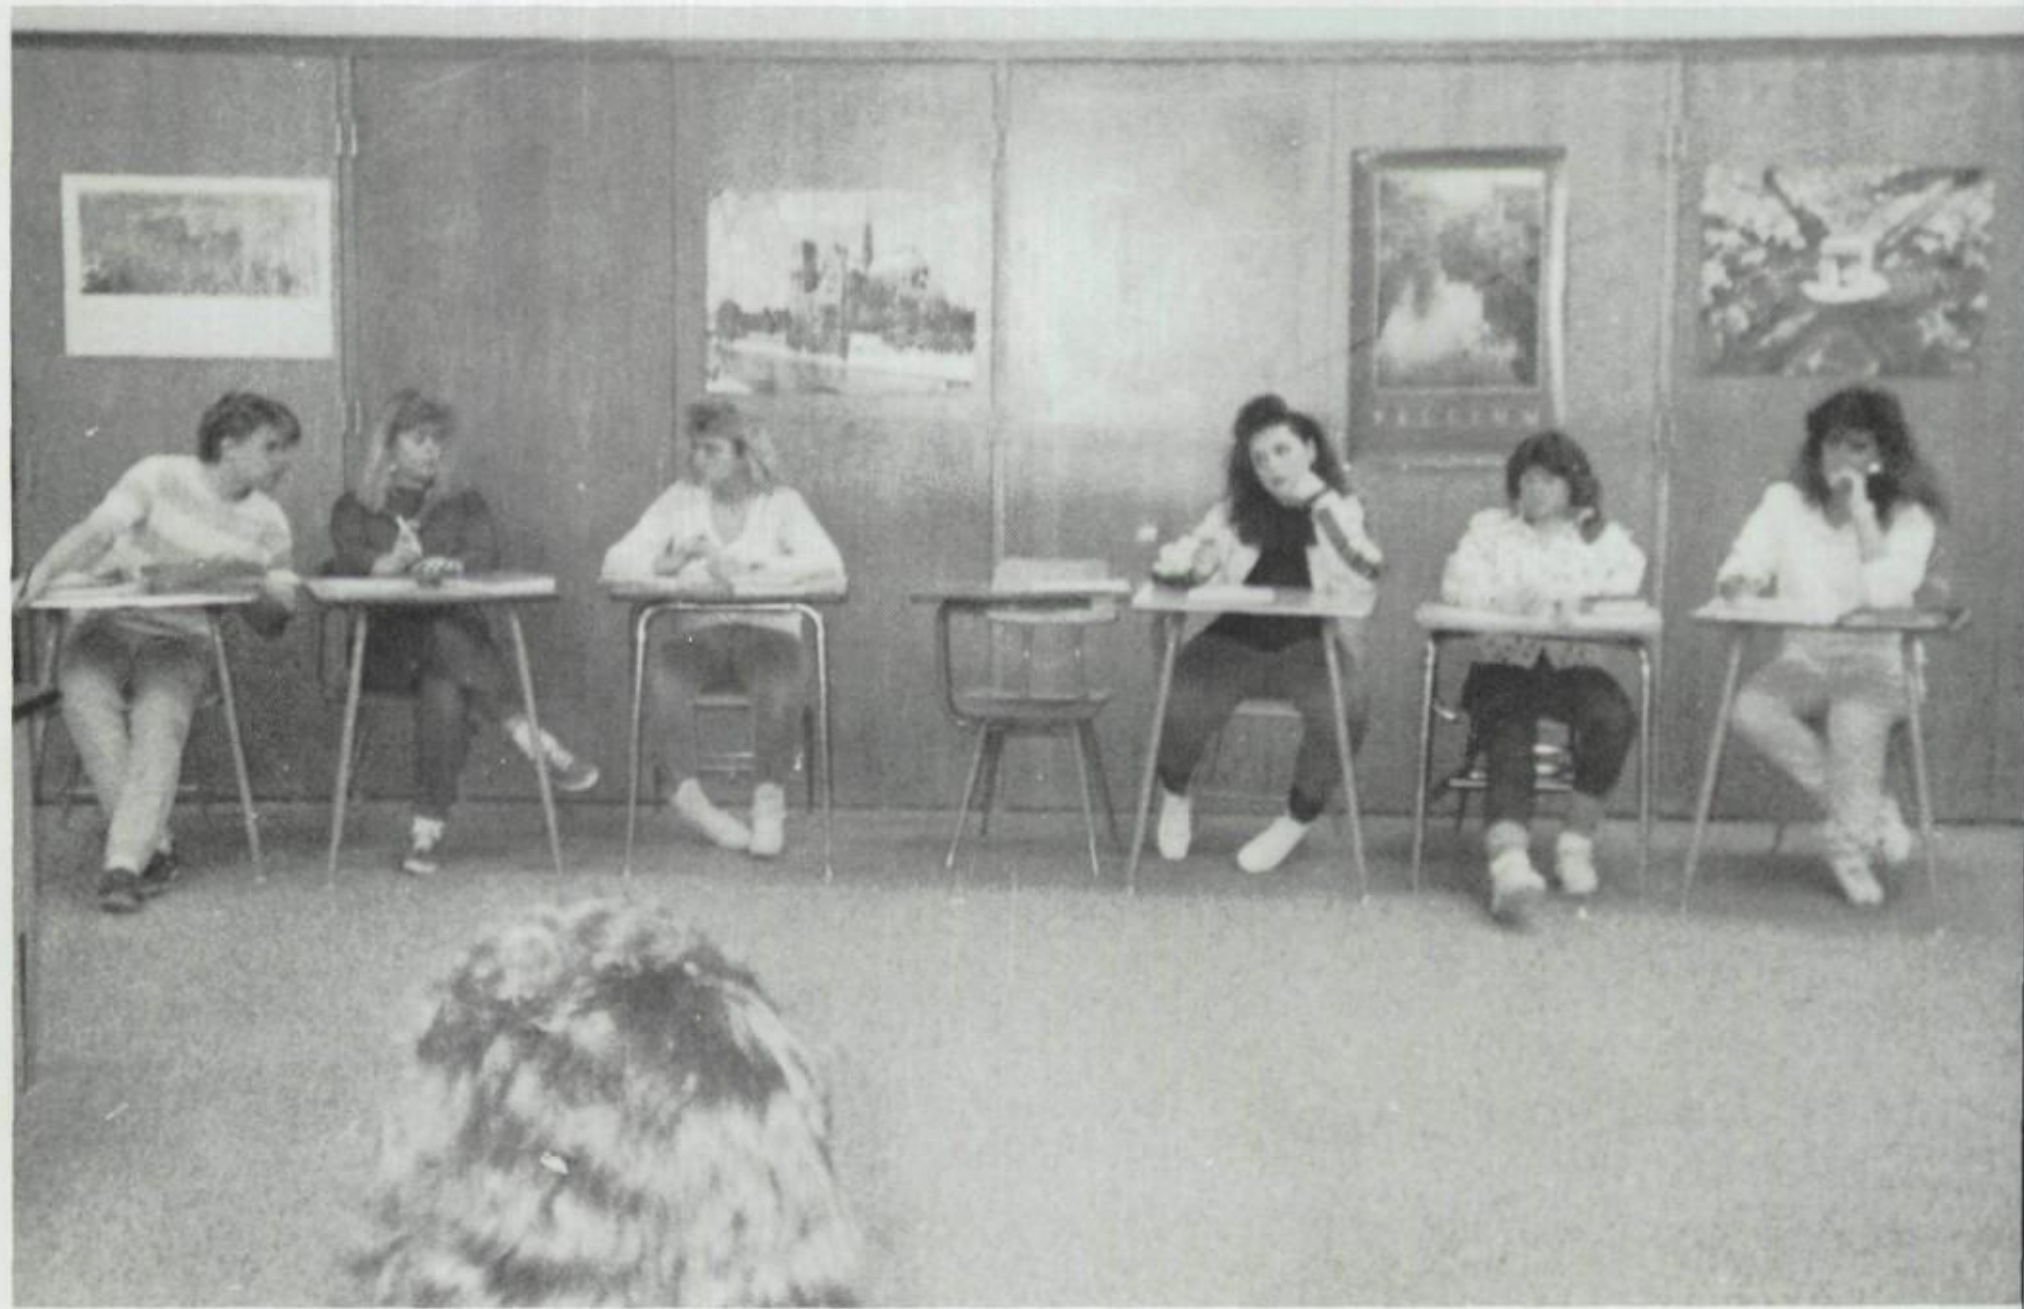

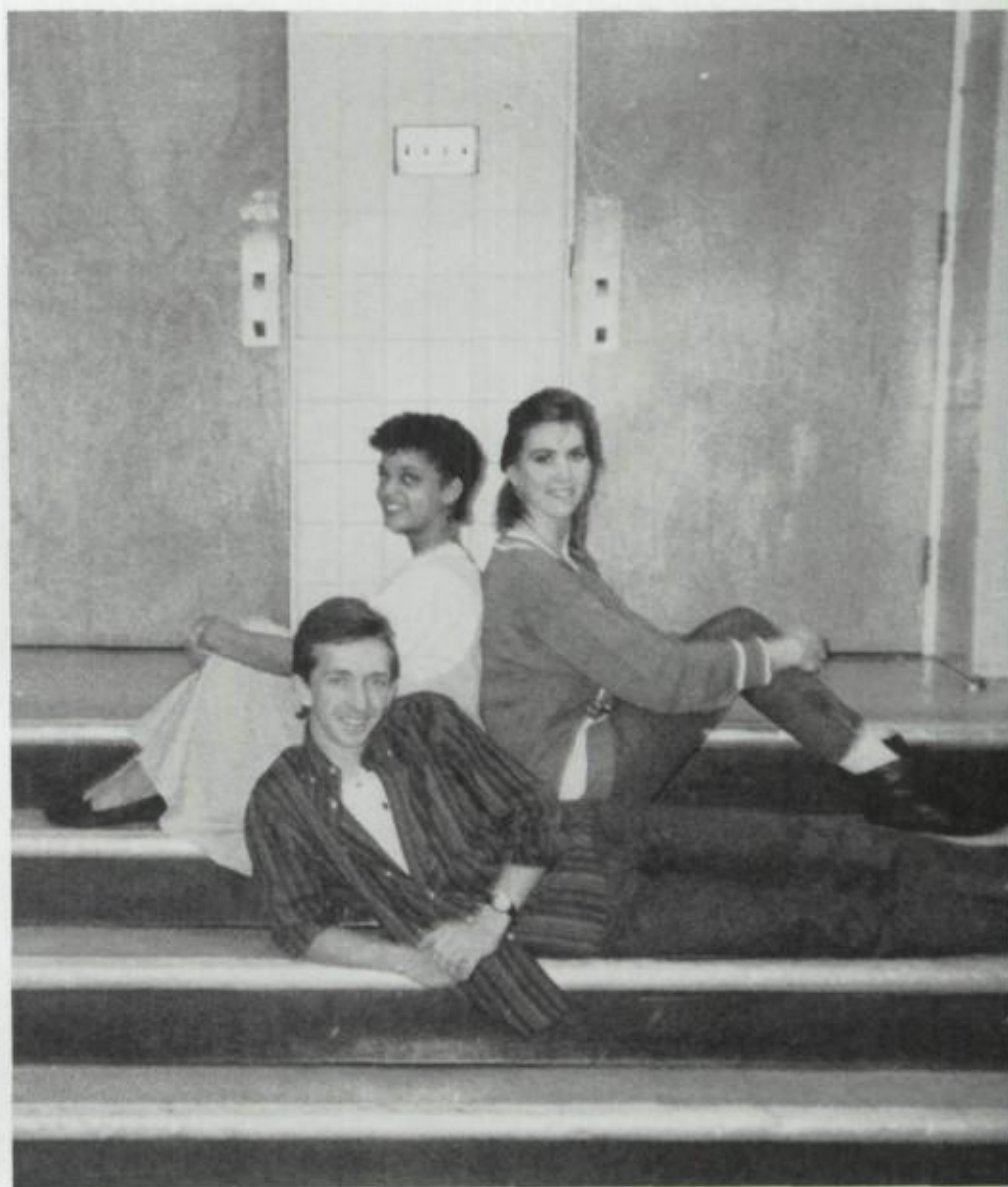

The French Club participated in Farmer's Market by selling French pastries themselves and they had a great time doing it. Though it was not always successful, the club members had fun following the French recipes to see what would happen.

Many of the activities that the members participated in were held during class. Listening to French music, both classical and pop, was enjoyed by the students. They were given a chance to write their own stories and songs. These works by the students were put on exhibit or performed at their own French Fair. Other class activities included: playing French games such as Monopoly; being visited by Madame Le Febure's friends straight from France, and eating at Le Parisien.

Randy Wright, French club president, exclaimed, "French club was truly an exhilarating experience!"

Lang Lebe Der Deutschklub!!!

The Granite High German Club was organized to strengthen and enhance the German program. The German Club makes students aware of Germany's many cultural contributions by allowing students to participate in various activities throughout the year.

Some of these events are: The soccer game between the Spanish and Germans. Regretfully the Spanish won the game 1-0. The Haunted Old Mill activity was a fun one, and it was for a good cause. The German Club has parties too. The Sports Park was a blast. The cars, pizza, and videos were a great way to spend time. There was a Marzipan Party where they made authentic figurines out of Marzipan. Then the movie "Short Circuit" was shown.

But, it's not all parties and fun. The main concern of the club is that the students learn another language as soon as they can and at their own pace. There are different classes to fit the needs of both the honor student, and those who have a harder time comprehending the material.

Those students who take German learn a lot and enjoy themselves all at the same time. What a deal, huh?!

Over 300 tacos were sold by the Spanish Club at Farmer's Market. This spirited club is one of the largest in the school. Throughout the year many fun activities took place.

One of the first activities was the soccer game between the German and the Spanish. After the 1-0 victory, they feasted upon homemade root beer and donuts.

The annual Christmas party, golfing at Nibbly Park, and the steak fry were just a few other memorable events during the year.

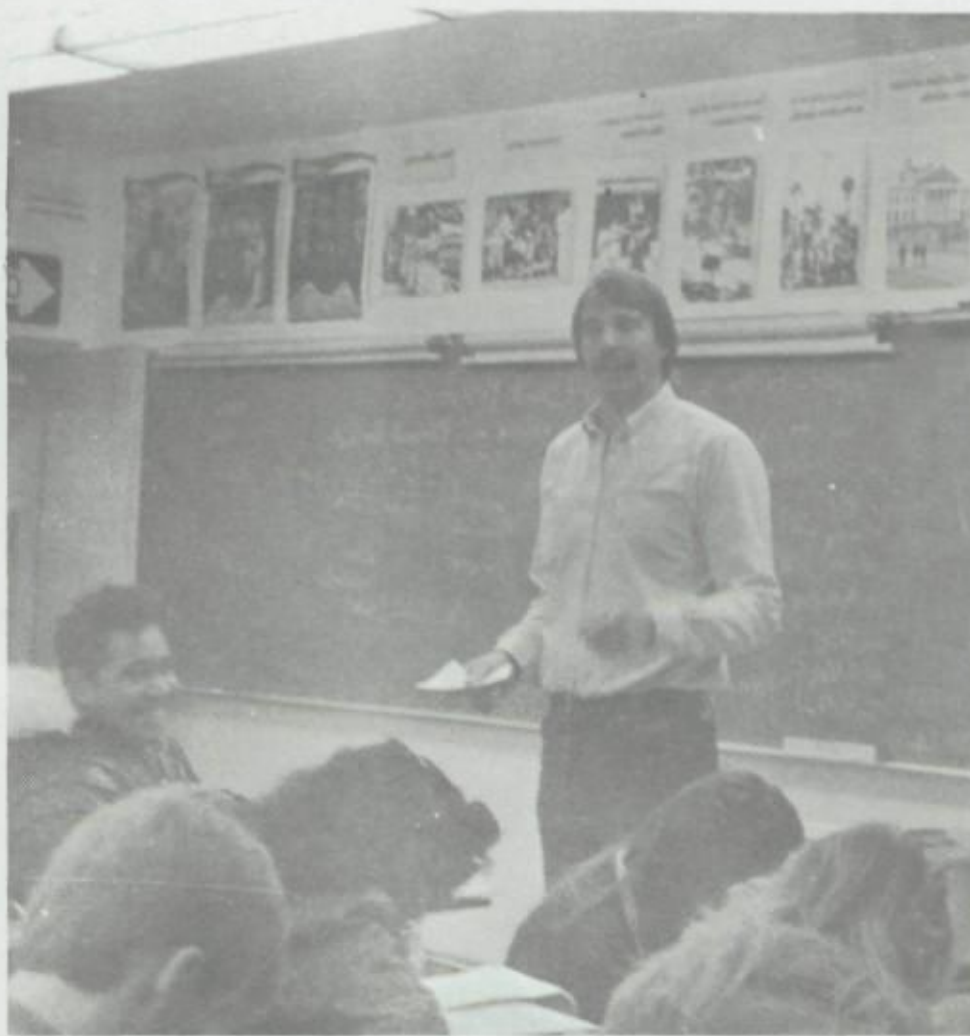

Mr. Belka gives each student exposure through the year. They are not only exposed to sentence structure, and grammar, but also oral tests are given in spanish restaurants. "Spanish club was a great experience - I learned a lot about the culture from each activity!" exclaimed Kiku Watanabe.

Concert choir- is there life after singing? Many students often wonder this after their performances. During Christmas they perform at Temple Square, and Malls, as well as school productions.

"Performing is a lot of fun. The crowd really gets involved and sometimes sings along," states Ms. McAllister.

Go Mad!

One of the highlights for the Madrigals this year was All-State Choir. They joined with other madrigal groups from all over Utah to perform at the Tabernacle.

Madrigal director, Miss McAllister, said "The group had reached such a high level that people were proud to have them representing Granite."

They performed so well, in fact, that other high schools asked them to come and perform at their assemblies.

During the Christmas holidays they were well received at many elementary and junior high schools, the local malls, several churches, and at Temple Square. Their performance at the Christmas Concert here at GHS was outstanding.

When asked how he felt about the 1986-'87 madrigals, Charles Thompson had only one thing to say; "Basses-the only real men!"

A Chorus Line

The Girl's Chorus at Granite High is new this year; it's a spin-off of mixed chorus and came into being after not enough men registered for the class. Brenda Turpin said she really liked, "all the opportunities for performing around the valley." Along with school concerts, the group performed at the Capitol in March for Music in our School's Month.

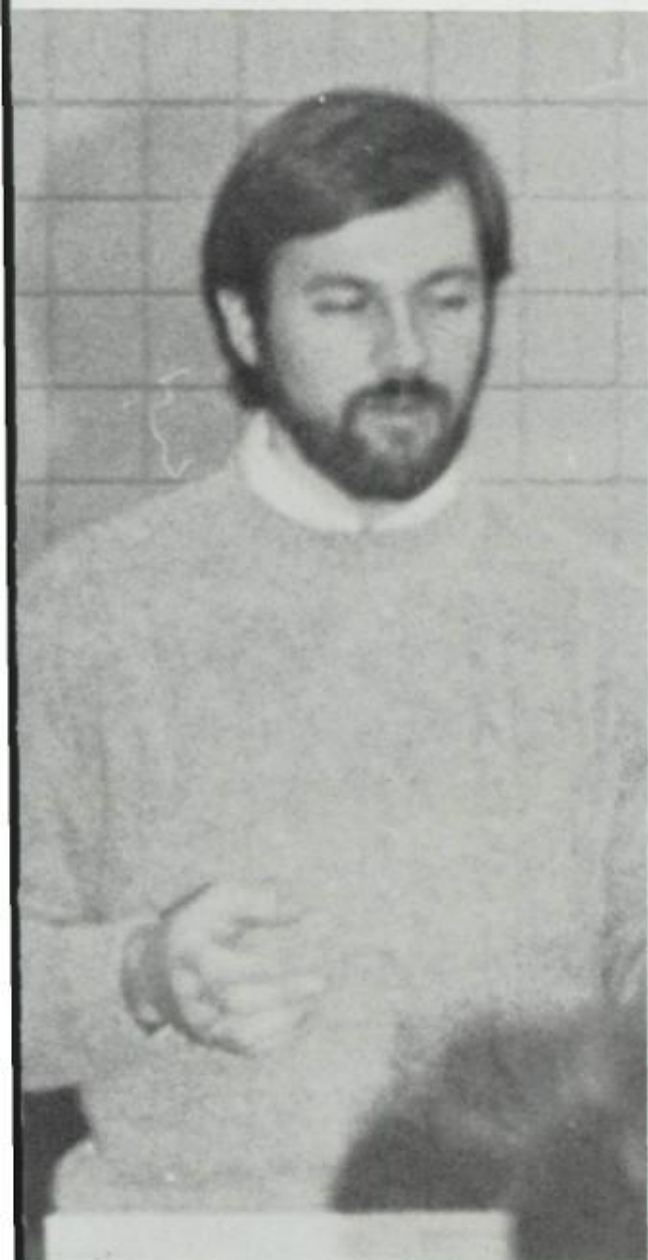

"The orchestra has grown this year," commented one of Mr. Webster's former students. The year's event, as far as most orchestra members were concerned, was the tour to Arizona. "I feel like a big blister," stated Jenna Baumgart upon her arrival home.

Astounded! Miss McAllister and Sharon Day are amazed at the great quality of the chorus.

Jammin' Dudes

Concert band this year was great! Many talented musicians took part in the ensemble to help make it the very best!

"These people have a lot of potential," Mr. Webster commented.

The first concert was during the Christmas season. They joined forces with the orchestra and choirs to do a large number, and performed several on their own which were well received by the audience.

They then proceeded to get ready for their concert tour to Phoenix, Arizona in March. Many hard hours were spent practicing the music. Everyone had fun at Big Surf, the giant water park, and performing in the many scheduled places in and around Phoenix.

Many of the musicians took part in the Solo and Ensemble Festival in February with good results. They also learned several other songs for the Intermountain States Festival later in the year.

Percussionist Philina McNeil remarked, "Concert band is one of the most fun groups I've ever been in! The people are groovy, and so is Mr. Webster. I'm proud to have been a part of it all."

Play That Tune!

Pep Band is an extra-curricular group that represents Granite at all the home football and basketball games. It was a good way of learning new tunes and it gave students the opportunity to show their talent. All of this was done for two reasons 1) They love to play music and 2) They want to help make Granite the best!

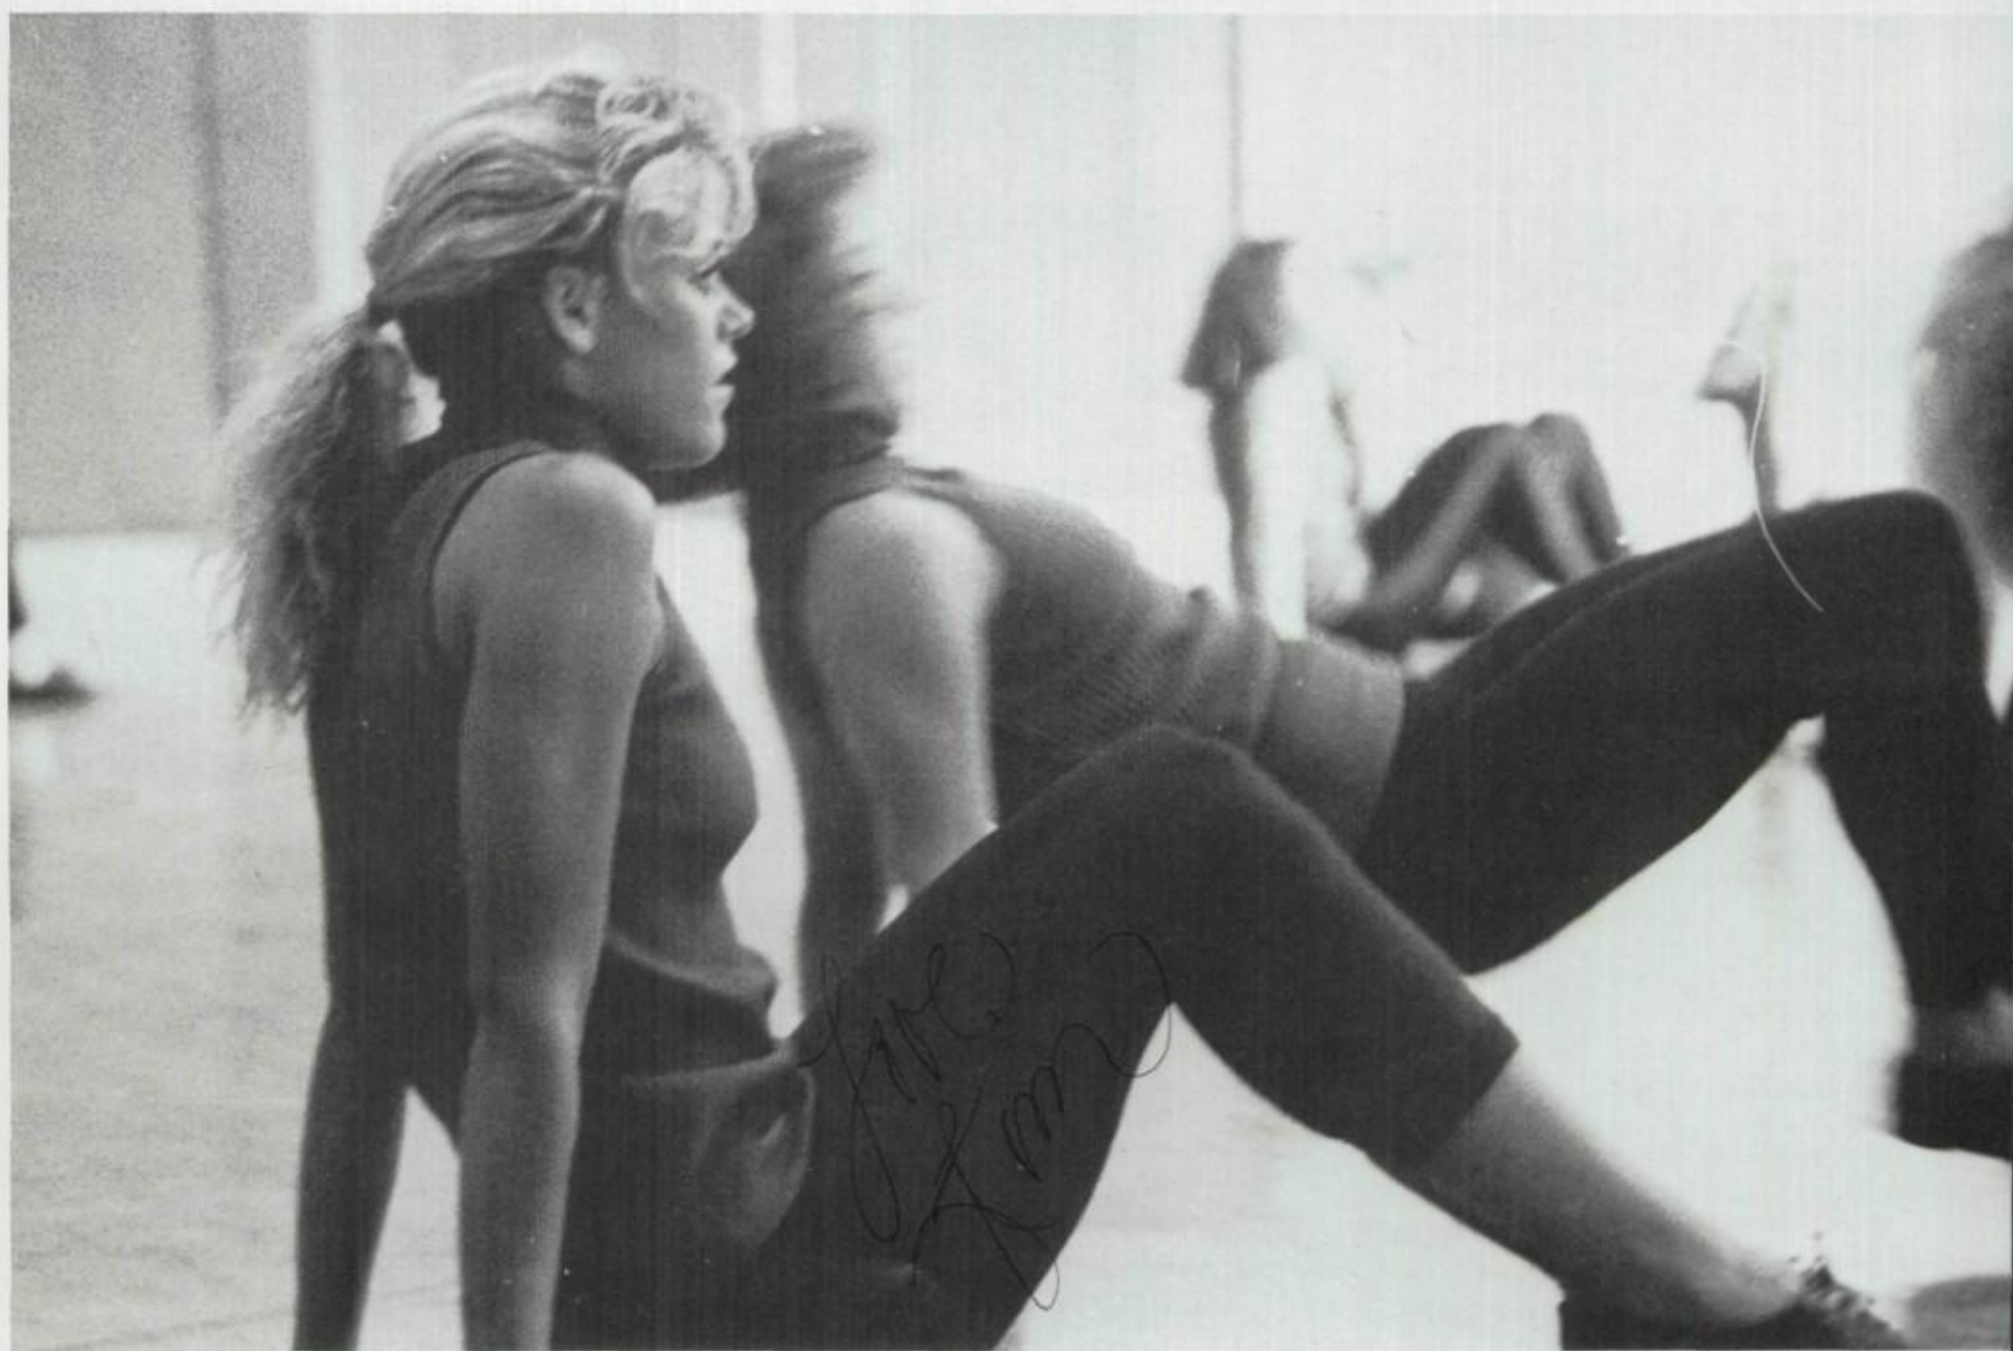

Jazz Band (Ensemble) is sometimes thought of as only a performing group. It is much more than that, it's for serious music students to learn how to play All-American form of music-jazz. Competitions are held against other High School groups in the Salt Lake Area. "Pep and Jazz Band really help us-they make assemblies and games more exciting as each band represents Granite High!"

Get Down To Business

"I like dancing and teaching here. I feel it is very important to have a job I like" said Miss. Thompson. She encourages each and everyone of the dancers to do their best.

Dance Company does not have competitions but, they compete against each other. Opportunities to perform are constantly coming up, for example, they performed at Junior High Schools during Christmas time, Pep Assemblies and they also had their own Dance Concert. All of the dancers worked together and the concert was a great success!

What's New? . . . The Marchez this year had a new advisor, Wendy Thompson. She has been dancing for thirteen years. She studied dance at the University of Utah.

For the very first time in Granite's history, sophomores were allowed to try-out. Due to the fact there was no "pep club" this year. Sophomores: Shellie Madison, Jennifer Harvey, Lisa Archuleta, and Shelly Campbell were among the very few talented to make Marchez.

"They have a lot of potential and skill to learn," said their advisor, "They are like a big family." In Competition they performed very well.

Check It Out!!

Our Varsity Cheerleaders and Songleaders have worked extremely hard this year. Practice began as soon as summer vacation started. They had to prepare for a challenging competition - U.S.A. camp.

At the U.S.A. camp, the varsity were awarded a "Declaration of Spirit" certificate. The Songleaders received a "Showtime U.S.A." banner. Both groups were able to achieve the unity award. They both made a lasting impression up at camp.

Summer Camp is not the only thing the Varsity and Songleaders have done to help out the school in spirit. They have put a lot of hard work in organizing pep assemblies and trying to get the crowd excited so that the crowd could come to the games. By getting the crowd's spirit up, the cheerleaders would award some members of the crowd with spirit sticks, so this made it all the more fun for people to come to the games.

The Varsity and Songleaders really are something to check out!

Much like the Varsity, the JV and Sophomore cheerleaders began to work out with the beginning of summer. They also attended the U.S.A. Camp.

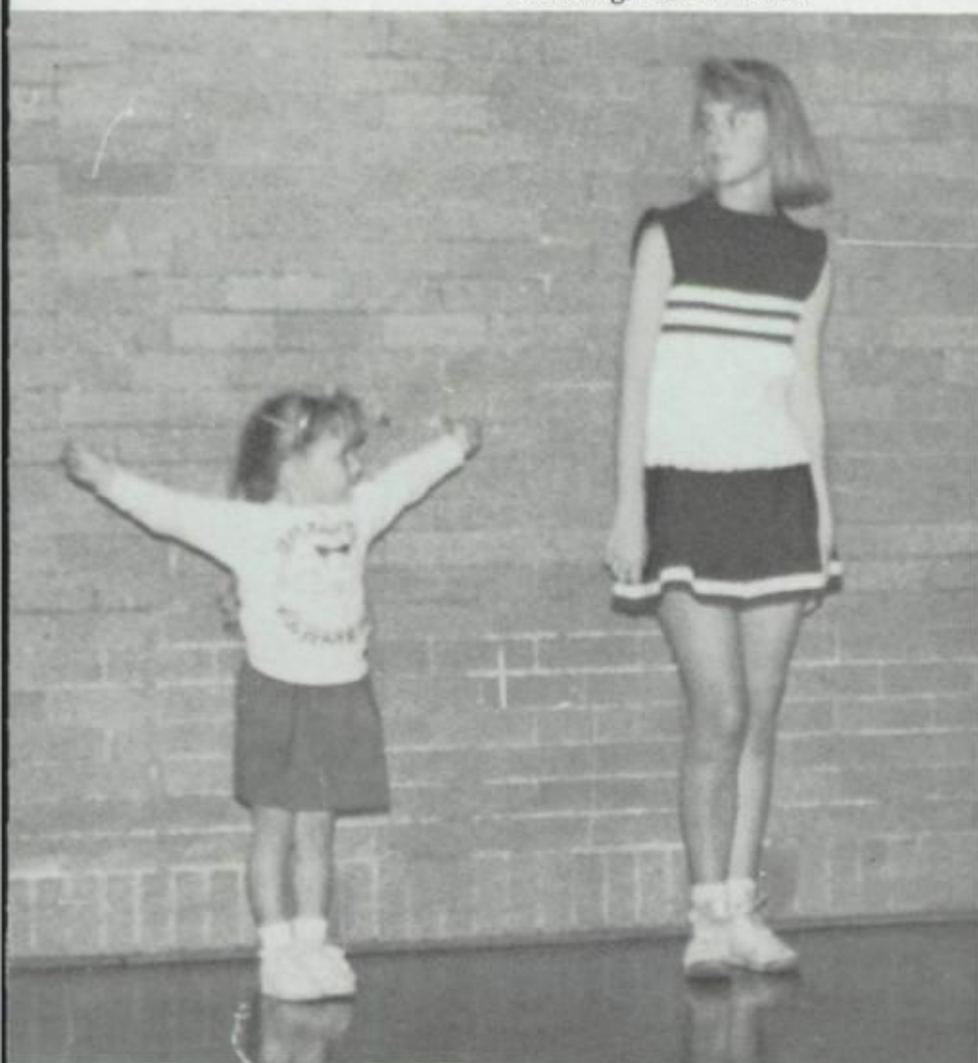

The JV's hard work paid off as they received a Superior Trophy from camp. They were awarded superior ribbons in each category- this lead them to receiving the trophy.

The Sophomores won the "Hardest Working" plaque. So, they proved how quickly a group can become united.

The JV's and Sophomores have worked together cheering at football games to help out the varsity, and at the pep assemblies. Both groups have enjoyed working with each other. Some of the cheerleaders said that they really enjoyed having a new squad to work with, and that it was a fun experience.

We Gave It Our All!!

"Our Varsity team faced a tough season this year. Even though it was a 0-9 record, the football team gave it their all," said Chance Parrish #56. The Varsity team put many hours into practice and each member dedicated themselves to the game. They could be seen practicing in the rain, sleet, or blazing sun. From the first game to the last, the players kept their spirits high and even after losing with a score of 0-21, they held their heads up and became more determined for the next game. Our team has always appreciated the support that the loyal fans give them. It really helped the players to know that there was someone out there who cared. Although this sometimes treacherous sport seems to be the cause of many bruises, bumps, and broken bones, most will agree that this is a game of full excitement for both players and spectators.

What Is Football?

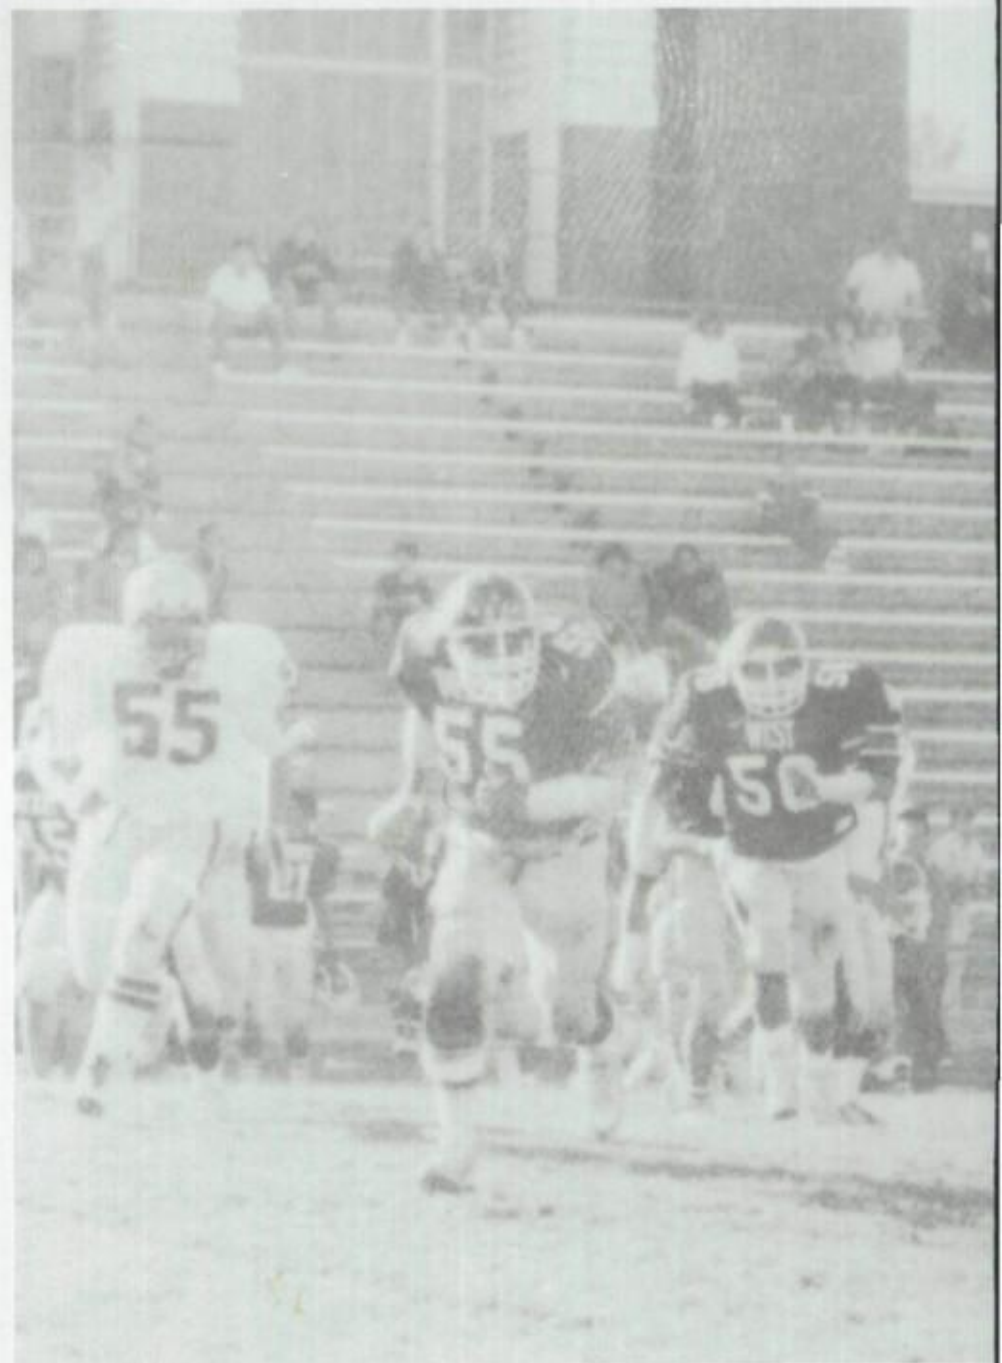

What is Football? Is it just a sport you play for fun? Is it something you do because you feel like it? Well, this year the J.V. and the Sophomore teams gave a new meaning to the sport football.

The new meaning was still being unified, and knowing that the crowd still believed in them. This made them work harder every game they played. The players did not give up; they fought until the last second.

Granite students also gave a new meaning to the word football. The Granitian spirit was seen at all the football games, and their hope of a win never died out. The football players really were glad to know that the school still had pride in them.

Although the season was not a great one, the players of both teams kept spirits high and worked thier hardest until the last game. Players could be seen out on the field practicing until late evening. When watching them play you knew that they gave it their all. We appreciate the hard work they did to support Granite.

Spike It

Our 1986-87 Volleyball Team played very well. "Each and every one of them had, and still have, a lot of potential- they could have won more games than they did," says Ms. Long.

One of the girls, Chris Farr, was strong as a setter and held the team together on court. Also holding the team together and making it work were Suzanne Young and Jan Bruin, Co-captains. On September 19-20 the team played in the West High tournament, it was a good experience for all of them. Myrna Finau, another one of Granite's fine players, had five serves in a row in the game against Kearns.

Coaches Nellie and Long did a good job. There were some hard times, fun times and a lot of friendship between the coaches and the players. Even though there were more games lost than won, the team stuck together and showed their eagerness to play the best at every game. "We were a little weak in experience but the talent was there!" said Ms. Long.

Above: "Will she get it?" Chris Farr and Myrna Finau wonder as Suzanne Young watches the ball. Right: I've got it! Granite fights to the end.

Leavin' Them In The Dust

The Cross Country team did very well this year! The boys team had a good record. Due to many injuries the girls were not able to qualify for state competition.

"I really enjoyed coaching the Cross Country team, it was a fun experience," says Coach Jerry Christensen (Uncle Jer), "especially the girls." Jerry was happy with the teams thrive to place in the competitions. "The sophomores improved a lot during the season."

The Region Cross Country meet was held October 21 at Sugarhouse Park. The race was three miles in length and very challenging.

The top runner was Jon Maeser. Though Jon was the top - the team did well as they competed and placed in the meets together.

Tennis is an individual sport rather than a team sport like football or basketball. That doesn't mean there isn't a team effort though. The tennis "team" was a team and a good one at that. They went through winning and losing together.

The tennis team practiced about two hours a day. "You can practice as long as you want, there's no set time," said Steven Larsen.

The team got off to a good start. Some players had a well-rounded background which made the start of the season smoother. Dave Pack did well because of his coaching and the type of tournaments he played in. The tennis team were winners overall!

Coach Goffe was really involved with the team. He went to every game. We were going to interview him, but he laughed and said "come back after school." But we forgot to go back, so that is the whole reason for this paragraph. Now we will be serious.

Our Indoor Soccer team was a great success. They worked really good together. Terry Butts, the goalie, was the most valuable player. Everyone can see by the score, why they took second in State.

Out On Top!

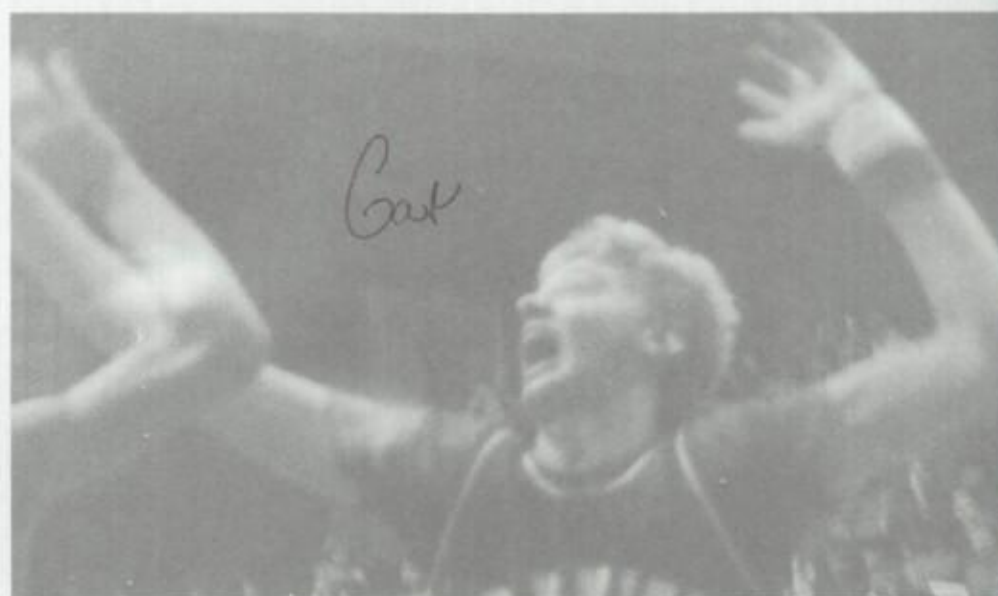

The basketball team of the 1986-87, what a statement! They had an excellent season with many victories and few losses. Granite definitely was out on top when they went to state for the first time in thirteen years.

Hard work was required to achieve their long term goal of attending state competition. Many hours of practice for these players really paid off. Coach Whiting worked a lot with the players to build their confidence. Everyone's efforts combined led these players to victory.

Students at Granite were also excited about these victories. The crowds were bigger than ever and many guys also formed a corner nicknamed after Gary Trost. With the rowdy crowds help the basketball team did their best! Congratulations basketball team - you proved you really were out on top!

J.V. and sophomores had a hard act to follow after the varsity team. These teams led by Coach Paur and Coach Parker were also led to many victories.

One of the greatest things these players did was pull together and play as a team. The ability to strive and achieve success was shown at each game. From the first game to the last - much improvement was seen.

These players should be complimented on not only

Lady Farmers Crush Colts

The 1986-87 Womens basketball team may not have gone to state or lead in scoring, or even been a major attraction for college scouts, but the efforts and spirit of the team covered it's losses. This years multi-talented team practiced three hours every day to prepare for the games, and have made incredible strides. As sophomore Kathy Blake said, "We have a lot of talent we just need to suck it together into one game." Teammate Myrna Finau agreed in saying, "We've got an awesome team; it may not show on the board, but you can feel it on the floor." These statements are great examples of the spirit the Lady Farmers had this year. Coach Long couldn't be happier. "I'm really proud of them (the team) they have come along way and really kept their pride and spirit up!"

This year's team was a lot younger than the past, only two seniors. "We've had a lot of fun, and were gonna do awesome next year," said co-captain Amy Carpenter. That really sums it up! Coach Long was particularly impressed with how well the girls worked as a team; helping out others when the pressure was on. "They have really improved" the coaches agree, "if they could play the year over they'd win". And fortunately, for this team there is next year!

What a shot!! As Shannon Grey (15) goes up for a shot, Granger blocks.

Pin 'Em

Although this season the wrestling team hasn't been undefeated, there have been many star wrestlers. Sam Arishita, one of the two wrestling coaches, said that the most outstanding wrestler was Moses Tauteoli. Moses has gone undefeated in region, winning all his matches by pins.

James Ballou, a team captain, has also been outstanding placing in the top five in three meets. James, who is only a Junior, will play an even bigger role next year. Lonnie Martinez, a sophomore, has done very well this season in the 132 lb. class. After region, he dropped 6 lbs. to wrestle at 126.

Granite was very well represented at region as well as state.

Swishing News

"Swimming really gets you in shape," says Andy Hayes, captain of the swim team. The swim team this year has not only kept each swimmer in shape, but has given Granite state-wide recognition at swim meets. In fact, many swimmers placed in the swim meet that was held at the U of U. The state meet was a great experience for all.

The swim team is great for everyone! "Swim team was great this year, but it will be even better next year," claims Julie Nielson. The swim team at Granite High School has made us all proud as each swam their best!

O f f i c e H e r s

"Why weren't there more assemblies this year?" was a complaint heard quite often by the friendly student body officers. Many people thought that it was because for the first time in 80 years Granite was run by girls.

The girls in student government did work very hard for the students, though. Funds this year were cut almost in half so it was difficult to operate. The SBO's then had to work around the small funds. One way they accomplished this was by doing many fund-raisers including Future Trends and the Dining Plus.

Assemblies that took place were great! The buckle-up as well as Dan Clark assembly was very educational. The highlight of all the assemblies was the lip-sinc. Everyone enjoyed the assemblies whether they attended or just took time out from school. SBO's really kept spirit up this year.

Right: Yes, it's the capitol. Sheri Liebelt, Secretary; Jeannie Moody, President; Claudia Memmott, Vice-President enjoy their jobs. Below: Aaaah! Shannon Smith and Jenny Blake kept good records as the school historians. Bottom right: "It's mine!" claims Wendy - a porsche is her style.

Middle: "Are you serious?" Jeannie questions Kyle (alias Joan Rivers) as he/she presents student government the best costuming plaque from the lip-sinc. Left: Na-na-na-na-na. Jeannie Moody enjoys playing Rocky as she jogs up the capitol steps.

Congressional Socialism

This year, Granite High has accomplished a lot with the help of our senators. The senior senators have all worked hard together, with the help of Kenny Halander to put together this year's "G" Book.

Senators met during first period under the supervision of G. Clark. This class is called American Enterprise Leadership, more commonly known as Student Government. Mr. Clark commented, "AEL gives our leadership students the opportunity to participate in business leadership activities." This year, our senators have helped put together our lip sync assembly, that turned out great! Thanks to all of our senators for making Granite what it is today.

The House of Representatives is another group at Granite who has done a great deal for the studentbody. The House is made up of approximately 50 students, one from every teacher who has a first period class. These representatives met in the lounge with Kenny Halander to decide on school activities. The representatives then take their information to their home room. The House has done a great job of letting all of the students know about upcoming events. Thanks!

Boys/Girls State . . .

Be prepared for the road work ahead. Jenny Lofgren, Linda Vea, and Jan Bruin show a standard girls state pose.

"What was that? - Did you say boys state?" Boys staters: Andy Draper, Chad Korb, Rick Meier, Jed Lyman, Randy Wright, Mark Hanks, and Bryan Kleven.

Is It For You?

Every spring the American Legion chooses juniors to attend Boys and Girls State. This gives the students a chance to see how our government works. The participants live in different cities. They elect city, county, and state officials to run the 51st State of the Union.

Boys/Girls State lasts a week during which the Boys and Girls Staters aren't supposed to associate with the opposite sex. This can be a problem when they try to sneak around to a phone to call girl/boyfriends, but the week goes quickly, and with a high survival rate.

Boys State was held at Utah State University during the second week of June. "It was the most fun I've ever had," said one Boys Stater.

Girls State was held at Southern Utah State University. It was held the same week as Boys State. "I thought it was a good experience," said Jenny Lofgren. "We met a lot of people." This sums up all the Girls Staters feelings. They all enjoyed it and recommend that you go for it.

Right: Red, white, and you. Linda Vea, Diane Akiyama, Jenny Lofgren, and Jan Bruin learn about the government. Below: $du=2dx$. Randy Wright studies hard for A.P. Calculus test.

Sharing The Best

Our experiences at Granite lay the foundation for our differing futures. Just as the stone granite catches the glint of the sun and shows the varying hues and flickers, each of us will show the varying skills we have acquired in our years here.

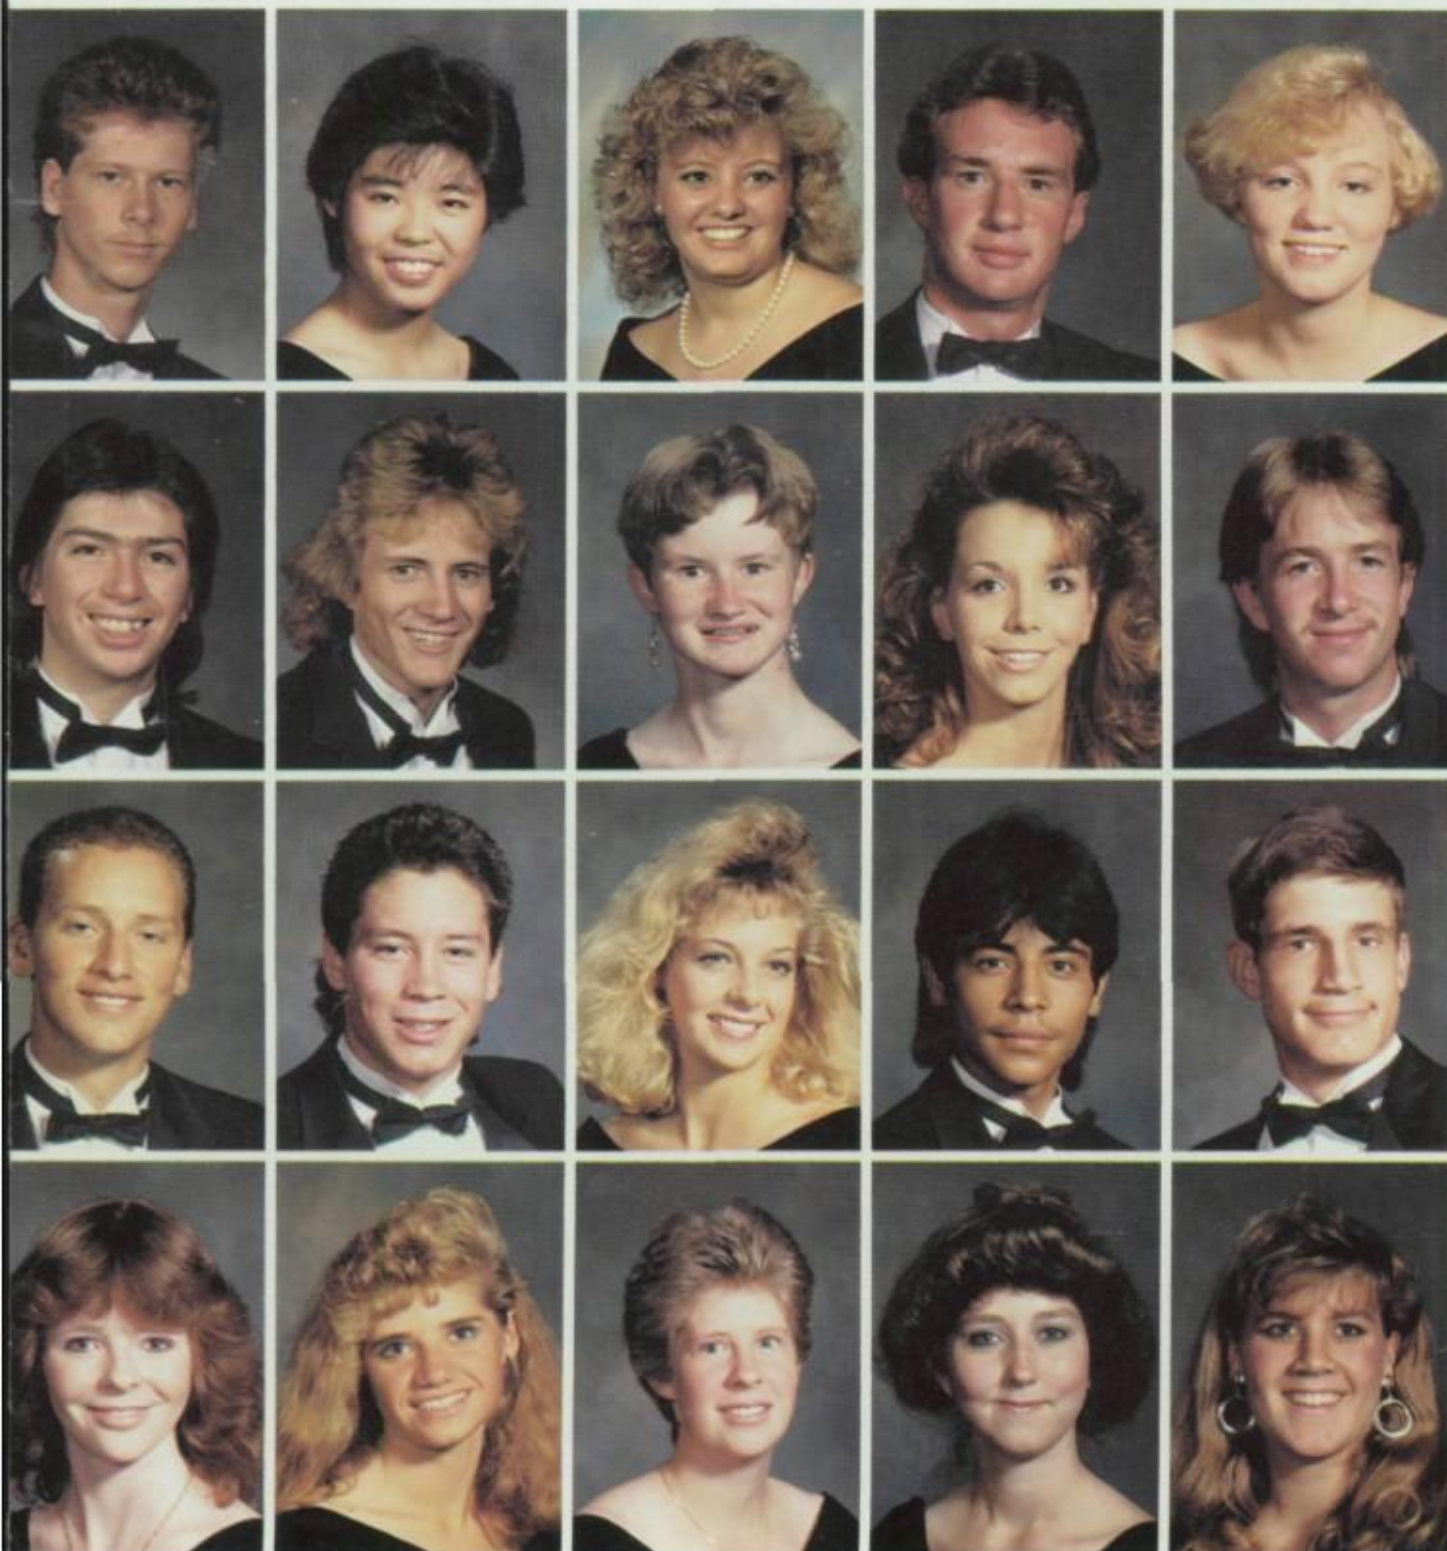

Though where to put the decimal point or the comma will be important as we balance check books or write resumes, we have also acquired other life skills. Gritting your teeth and making it through the day when you have three tests, a paper due, a lunch that got stepped on and a shirt with a purple stain, prepares you for the worst days that might come.

But we are not only prepared for the worst. We share the best, whether it is a victory at a football game or a solution to a difficult calculus problem. We have learned invaluable social skills.

Each of us will lead out in our own hues in the light of the future.

Guess who?! Senior class officers—Linda Vea, Kyle Nielson, and Troy Woolley show their playful side.

Cramming . . .

How often do you prepare ahead of time for a test? Many students at Granite would love to study, but they just don't have the time. This results in a word many of us have come to know and love - cramming. You could begin studying the day before, but why? After all, your test isn't until third and your second period class is really easy.

You may pass the test with an "A", just remember though when you cram that information tends to be lost once you've written it on paper. That's where good old studying pays off - college!

Pranks? What pranks? Seniors never pull pranks or try to get away with anything. Nevertheless, teachers are grateful when seniors leave their class. "Seniors think that they can get away with anything, that they are invisible once they have sluffed your class. What they really don't know is that we talk about the suspicious seniors at lunch." In reality, teachers believe there is no hope for seniors. Seniors are already set in their ways. So seniors just remember: the teachers know; the teachers always know, but sometimes knowing is not enough!

How To Beat The System

"A test, what test?!" Have you ever uttered these four words? Have you ever forgotten about a big test- when it's too late?

Lynch mob, Doug Stagg, Brad Smith, Andy Hayes, and Cameron Duncan promote spirit to beat Cyprus in Homecoming Game.

If so, we are here to help you. Listed below are four ways to get your teacher off the test subject and on to something else. Follow them and we guarantee they will work.

1. Have them tell you their favorite joke. Laugh- even if it's not funny.

Laugh for at least ten minutes. (This gives them confidence and they will tell you more.)

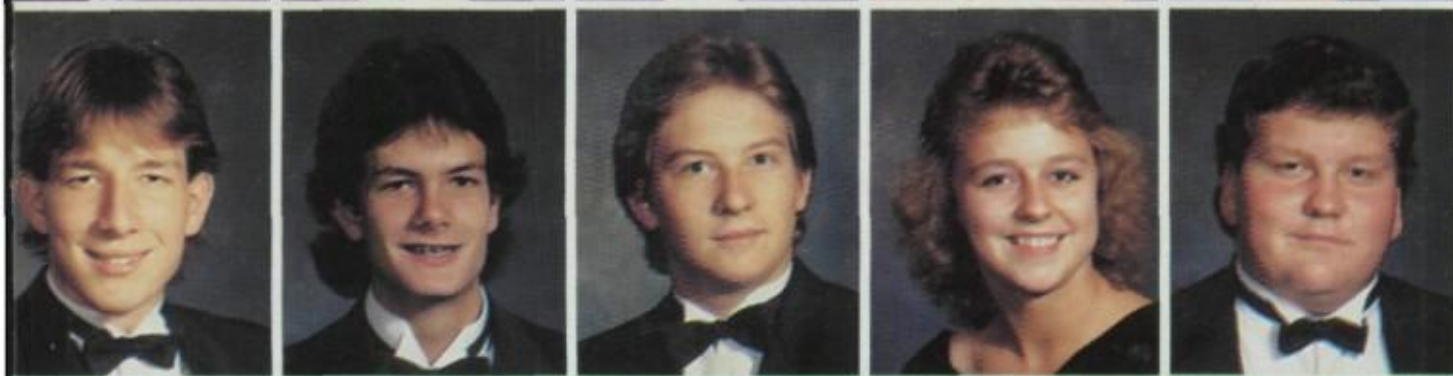

2. Have them explain a problem. Act dumb. Have them explain it in great detail.
3. Protest! "You didn't tell us there was a test!" Argue your point. Confuse teacher.

4. Ask them about the previous days assignment. Review every question. (This can take a long time and if your lucky, it may even carry over to the next day!)

Transportation? If it weren't for transportation we might not be able to get to school. Darn!

But seriously, how do you get to school?

Sophomores yell, "Mom, I need a ride!! Hurry up, I'm going to be late!"

Juniors enjoy the luxury of driving. This time mom is nagging you to hurry up.

Seniors drive. This is helpful when you get lost on your way to the swim building and end up out to breakfast.

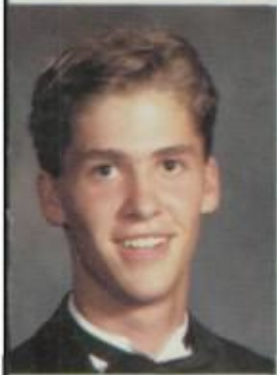

One thing's for sure: out of all sophomores, juniors, and seniors, only one person rides a horse.

Excuse Making

"Excuses, excuses, excuses." You've heard them all. But this isn't always true.

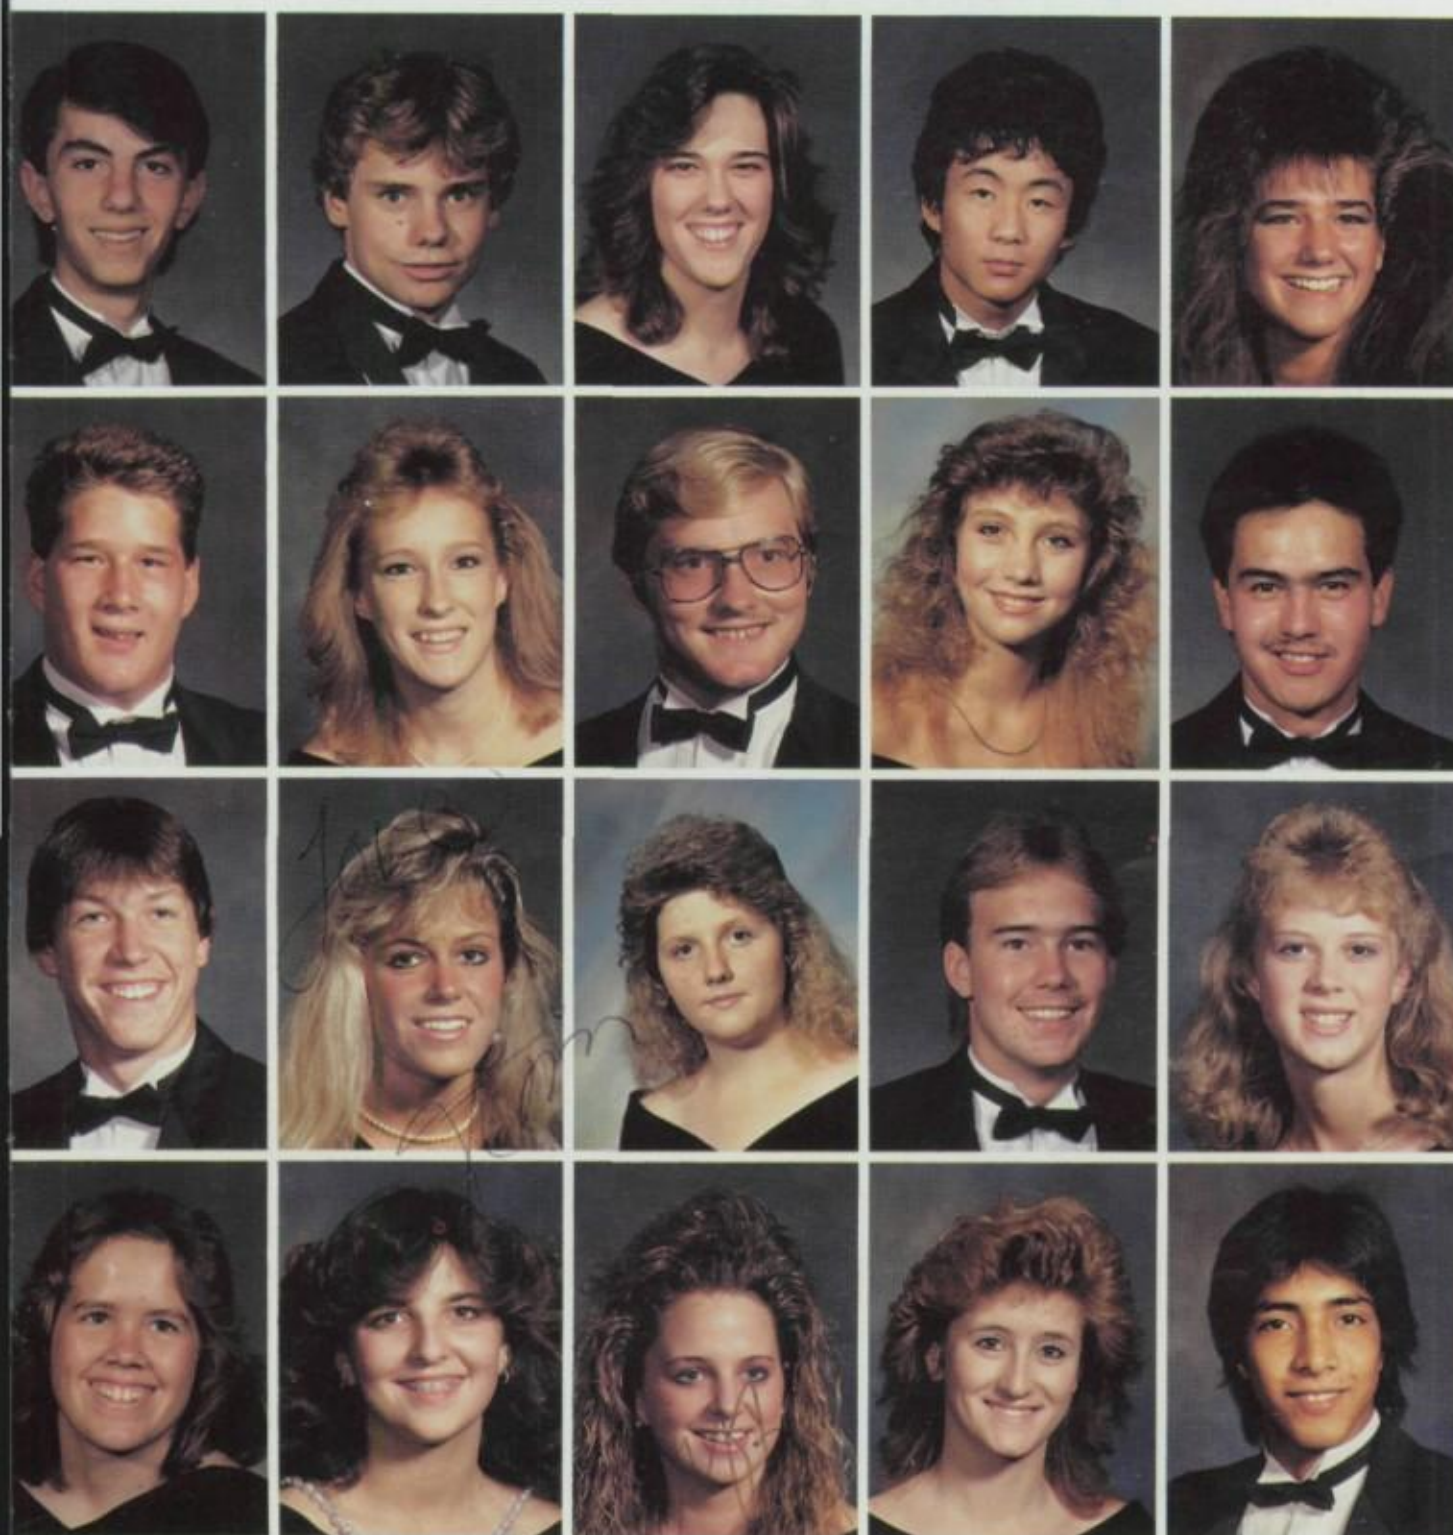

When a sophomore is asked about his missing homework - he'd probably come up with something like this: "Ah, my dog ate it."

A senior is a lot smarter than a sophomore. So, they'd probably come up with something like: "Well, it was sitting on the table and my mom thought that it was my dad's - so she put it in his brief-case and he left for Guam this morning for the rest of the year."

One bit of advice for those of you who are new to excuse making. An excuse is more believable if it has been planned ahead of time and a look of total innocence is on your face.

Set For Class

Have you ever wondered what it takes to be "the teacher's pet"? Well . . . we've come up with five things you can do to win that special place in your teacher's heart.

First, Always be on time- if you're absent bring a note from home the very next day.

Second, Sit in the front row, center seat and smile.

Third, Take notes.

Fourth, Always have homework done and handed in on time.

Fifth, Raise your hand when you want to talk and ask intelligent, well at least semi-intelligent questions.

Now try this because being "the teacher's pet" can be very beneficial, especially to your grades.

Ouch!! Marchez demonstrate outstanding skills with jump splits.

Senioritis

"Senioritis" is a popular disease many Granite students suffer from. Read the symptoms below to find out if you are suffering from this disease.

- 1) sluffing
- 2) not doing homework
- 3) daydreaming
- 4) wanting to graduate
- 5) procrastinating
- 6) laziness
- 7) Any other idea to get out of doing school work!

Senioritis is known to strike any age group. Rumor has it that once you get senioritis, you can't get rid of it. Don't worry though, senioritis is only normal!!

As another year has gone by we look back and reflect upon what has happened this past year. Jr. Prom, the most formal dance of the year, was another big success. This year the dance was held at the Sheraton Triad Towers on April 10, 1987. As the couples attended, the girls in their dazzling dresses, and the guys in their tuxes, all enjoyed the wonderful evening as it will always be remembered.

Jr. week, another exciting event, was held the week of April 6 through the 10. This was a week of activities which ended with the Jr. assembly, which was attended by many. As you all know the Jr. class this year was involved with Granite.

We, the Junior Class Officers of the 1986- 87 school year, hope you have enjoyed the many memorable events that have occurred at Granite High this year. We have enjoyed representing you and hope you equally appreciate the work we've done. Have a wonderful summer and we wish you a very special Senior year.

Do you measure up? Chris VanLeeuwen, John May, and Shannon Simper think the Jr. Class does.

Washed Up Date

It is finally Friday night and you are with the date of your dreams. Everything has gone great! Smiling, your waitress hands you the check. Suddenly you realize that the amount of the dinner check does not match the contents of your wallet. You and your date spend the rest of your "wonderful evening" washing dishes.

Although dating can have it's ups and downs, most often you won't end up coming home from Jr. Prom with dish-pan hands. Dating is a fun activity that is enjoyed by many Granitians. Whether it's going to the movies, to a dance, Bowling, or doing something like running through the sprinklers, it doesn't matter! Just being with a person you like and enjoying yourself can be a wonderful experience.

The Ultimate Sin

Yes it's a sin! And yes Dr. Long and Officer Herbert spend half of their waking hours trying to prevent it. It still goes on. This is the evil of being busy with things other than school, during school.

It's done because the monotony of English can cause brain tumors and Biology gets boring.

It is estimated that the average student spends at least 30% of class time with his head in the clouds, or on his desk depending on how much sleep he got the night before.

That's not counting the popular past time of sluffing. The art of sluffing is practiced by many innocent looking students, but watch out for Dr. Long and Officer Herbert.

Deck The Halls

Just about everything is going on in the halls of Granite High. Students will do just about anything to relieve the boredom of class. For the five short minutes we have between classes you can find an active Granitian doing one of the following things: (A) making out, (B) fighting, (C) occasionally fighting, (D) getting shoved in a locker, (E) jogging to class, (F) wandering around trying to figure out just what to do.

If the student isn't doing one of the above he is doing something totally illegal, or unprinted in the yearbook.

With all these activities going on in the halls you can't help being entertained.

The Unthinkable

Pay to take a test? You've gotta be kidding! But it's true, hundreds of juniors and seniors pay ten dollars to take the ACT Test. And get this, if you turn in the registration form late you owe fifteen dollars more.

Sound like a rip-off? Well if you want to go to college it's required. So, every year hundreds of Utah High School students migrate to the local testing centers and take the tough three and a half hour test.

If you think that sounds bad, some people take it two or three times to better their score.

So if you plan on going to college after High School, get prepared to do the unthinkable ... Pay To Take a Test!

"Aren't those illegal?" Mr. Oakeson looks a bit worried.

After Hours

Between the months of September and May our lives consist of two general periods. These are fondly referred to as "school" and "after school." Now, as school is pretty much out of our control, structured by those other than ourselves, "after school" is the period most often reserved for the outlet of built up energy.

What does one do after school? It really depends on who you ask. Some reserve these sacred hours to release energy in the form of school sports. Others find different sports! Watching television, spending time with friends, cruising the malls, or just hanging around are all popular uses of time. There are those, however, who don't find much relief in the after school hours. Homework is for the hassled. A part time job is for a car payment and cleaning the bedroom is for people who live like slob. But the most popular way to spend the hours after school is to catch up on the sleeping that's not done in class.

Sophomores

And now a special brief from your class officers. Your sophomore year may have been less than memorable, but look at it this way: At least you don't get hit with ping pong paddles or have to relive the horrors of doing an inside story on the bottom of the garbage cans in sardine hall. Yes sophomores, we have made it through the year only to return as not so mighty juniors next fall.

Ken Ludlow recalls one of his more memorable experiences as a sophomore. It was just another average day for Ken as he entered the school doors. When a friend said, "You're busted dude" and handed him a toothbrush. After counting and scrubbing each tile on the seal while crowds of people stood watching, Ken felt a sense of humiliation only a sophomore can feel.

But as your class officers we'd like to give a word of encouragement. It's over! and Just remember one thing: The surgeon general determined that nose-picking in class was hazardous to your health. (It caused severe beatings from the seniors.)

"I'll save you!" Rachel Hodson exclaims. Sophomore class officers Tiffany Smith, Rachel Hodson, and Julie Darger.

Clear The Roads

"Oh no, not again!!" Each Senior screams as a Drivers Ed. car approaches. It is a common practice of Seniors to dodge an oncoming Driver's Ed. car. Why? Because most likely a sophomore is behind the wheel.

Many sophomores drive without a license when not in a Driver's Ed. car. They avoid policemen as well as left turns. After all right are easier.

One word of advice: whatever you do don't get caught (your license will be suspended until you're eighteen.)

Go ahead, make my day! Helen Giamalakakis and friends enjoy lunch in the hall.

Teachers: Don't Read This

Although this quote may sound rather stupid, it is common place among the infamous sophomore note passers. The sophomores have been passing notes since the beginning of time, and they have refined the delivering to an art.

The methods of passing the note varies quite a bit: from handing the folded up message to the person it is intended for to crumpling it up and throwing it to them from across the classroom. If these notes are intercepted by serious snoops and read, embarrassed, the red-faced sophomore tends to bow his head in shame. The reason these sophomores are so embarrassed, is because the notes are so mushy, almost to the point of repulsion. When the ultimate snoop (the teacher) intercepts the note and reads it aloud, it can crush a sophomore and scar him psychologically, still unsuspecting sophomores continue the vicious chain, resulting in "true love" or agony of defeat.

"He bought it?" Tanya Stewart laughs. The teacher actually believed I was working on my assignment.

First Kiss, Last Kiss?

Rachelle Raiford

SOPHOMORES CAN KISS! SAYS WHO?

Kissing-OOO! YUCK. Well, maybe at first, but the more you do it the better it gets. The first kiss is the most embarrassing and usually the funniest. Do you remember your first kiss?

"My first kiss caused a mental breakdown". Kerrie Siwick

"No comment." Corey Langston

"It gave me a headache." Kristy Bean

"My first kiss was a very religious experience." Michelle Herrera

"I closed my eyes and pretended like I knew what I was doing. But she did all the work." Bryce Cropper

Some sophomores we asked said they never have been kissed. Don't worry! You've got a long time to learn. You're only sophomores! And hey, remember this: Smile!! It's the second best thing you can do with your lips.

"But Mrs. Anderson we are studying!" passing time in the library.

Big Money, Big Money

OK. It's time for the $50,000 question! Ready? ...

What's right with sophomores?

Rodney Kitchens: What's right with sophomores?!

Mark Hanks: Get real.

Troy Woolley: I need $50,000 to answer that one.

Frank Stanbrough & friends: Hey, everything, dude.

Monte North: If you asked me what's wrong I could tell you.

Caroline Baggs: There's always next year.

Shelly Campbell: What is a sophomore? Wait, I am a sophomore.

Tina Kinder: I am a sophomore.

Lisa Winn: They're spastic little brats.

Jennifer Steele: They're spastic period.

Tiffany Stees: (Laughing) I'm sorry (more laughing.)

Tonya Englert: Geeze! That's a hard one.

Kathy Nez: I don't know! (Typical sophomore answer.)

Kassie Nielson: Um, let me think. They're, a, um, not very grown up, and a, wait, let me think. They can't, a, I mean, won't stand up to you. Yeah that's it!

Ho Kwan Yu: What was the question?

Dream Or Nightmare?

The first date by any other name would still be the same. The first date can be one of the worst experiences in life. We asked two sophomores to tell us what their first date was like.

TIFFANY SMITH: "My first date was with two other couples. We were all squashed in the car, and the worst part was I didn't get to sit by my date."

LAURA WOODALL: "My first date was a blind one and he practically was too. He had thick glasses and a crew cut. He smelled like five different kinds of cologne. We were with one other couple and we went to the movies. I sat by my friend because I didn't want to sit by HIM! I thought his cologne would make me throw up."

For those sophomores who haven't started to date yet: don't worry the first date is always the hardest. The more you date the easier it gets. One bit of advice: just be yourself and have a good time.

Some dates are better with your eyes closed. Ho Kwan Yu, Matt Jones, and Mike Thurman tell us about their first date.

Administration

Granite High administration this year has done a great job at keeping our school number one.

We asked our two Vice Principals what they liked about Granite High. Mr. Burton comments "Students, their attitude and friendliness. You don't find it in many other schools, not any I've been to anyway."

Dr. Long enjoys being one third of Granite's administration too! "I like the friendly atmosphere. I like the staff. I believe the students work well together."

The administration has really helped students get together. We are now a unified school - Thank you for all your help and support throughout the year!

WE LOVE OUR JOB!! Mr. Burton, Mr. Hess, and Dr. Long enjoy being administrators here at Granite. Working together and individually they strive to make Granite the best.

CURRENT EVENTS

Current Events. A pretty boring subject - right? Wrong!! This year's yearbook staff decided to do current events a little bit different than previous years. We decided to only mention the major events that took place and affected Granite.

First, the explosion of Don Blair Studio. Many schools suffered dire consequences as there were still yearbook pictures in the studio. The woman who was driving the car that hit the gas pipe was convicted of DUI.

Second, for the first time in thirteen years, Granite went to state in basketball! The team not only played well this year but helped us feel a greater sense of school pride. A special thanks to the team for all their hard work and long practices.

Third, Mr. Mulitalo- one of our biology teachers- was out of school for over half the year with illness. Mr. Mulitalo was, however, able to return for the last quarter of school.

Finally, many schools have been threatened to be closed down by the Board of Education. Any school with enrollment less than 70% of its capacity has been threatened. The schools that were threatened include South, West, Highland, and Skyline. Luckily, Granite was not mentioned in the discussion.

So it's not the Iranian Arms Scandal- but we hope that these current events were more meaningful to you than just local or world events!

Top: "Yes, biology can be fun!" Mr. Mulitalo smiles as he has fond memories of his students. Right: Shoot for three! John Moses was one of Granite's great outside shooters. Below: "Well ... here it goes." Eric Richards adds two to our winning team's score.

Left: Rumbles and ruins. Don Blair after the fatal accident. Below: "It's in ... it's in - I hope!" Gary Trost plays hard against Kearns.

In Memory Of...

Donna Jeanette Irvine

AFTER GLOW

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an after glow of smiles when life is done.

I'd like to leave an echo
whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times
and bright and sunny days.

I'd like the tears of those who grieve,
to dry before the sun
Of happy memories that I leave
When life is done.

-Carol Mirkel

Donna Jeannette Irvine was born in Salt Lake City, Utah. The fourth of five children to Lance and Jeannette Irvine.

She attended Woodrow Wilson Elementary, Central Jr. High, Granite Park Jr. High, and Granite High School.

Donna's entire life was one of giving, loving, and living life to the fullest. She had a very special gift- she was able to see the best in everyone she came in contact with.

Donna loved to sing, dance, ride horses, read, and write poetry. Her talents were shared with her friends, family, and the residents at Friendship Manor- where she was employed. Donna's zest for life and joyful personality were given to the elderly residents at the manor. Each person Donna felt was an extension of her family.

The legacy that Donna leaves her family and friends is to love one another no matter what color, creed, or station in life.

We, her family and friends, will be forever grateful for the love and time we had with her. We feel sincere pride in being her family.

"These are the best of times . . ." so the song goes and the school year, '86-'87 followed suit. To give our yearbook a little variety we decided to ask for predictions for the greatest events that would take place in '87. Here are a few of the fun and crazy ideas - now everyone can look back and laugh as predictions failed or came true.

*The basketball team will go to state!!

*The world will end.

Best of '87

*The soccer team will get to the state finals and probably even be champs.

*The basketball team will win more games this year than in the past three years put together.

*And last, Friday the 13th - Part VII will be relased.

Hey, stop! Robert Smith stops traffic on 5th East.

Above: I'm so excited. Students are psyched during a football game. Below: Tackle-block-sack. Farmers play well at West.

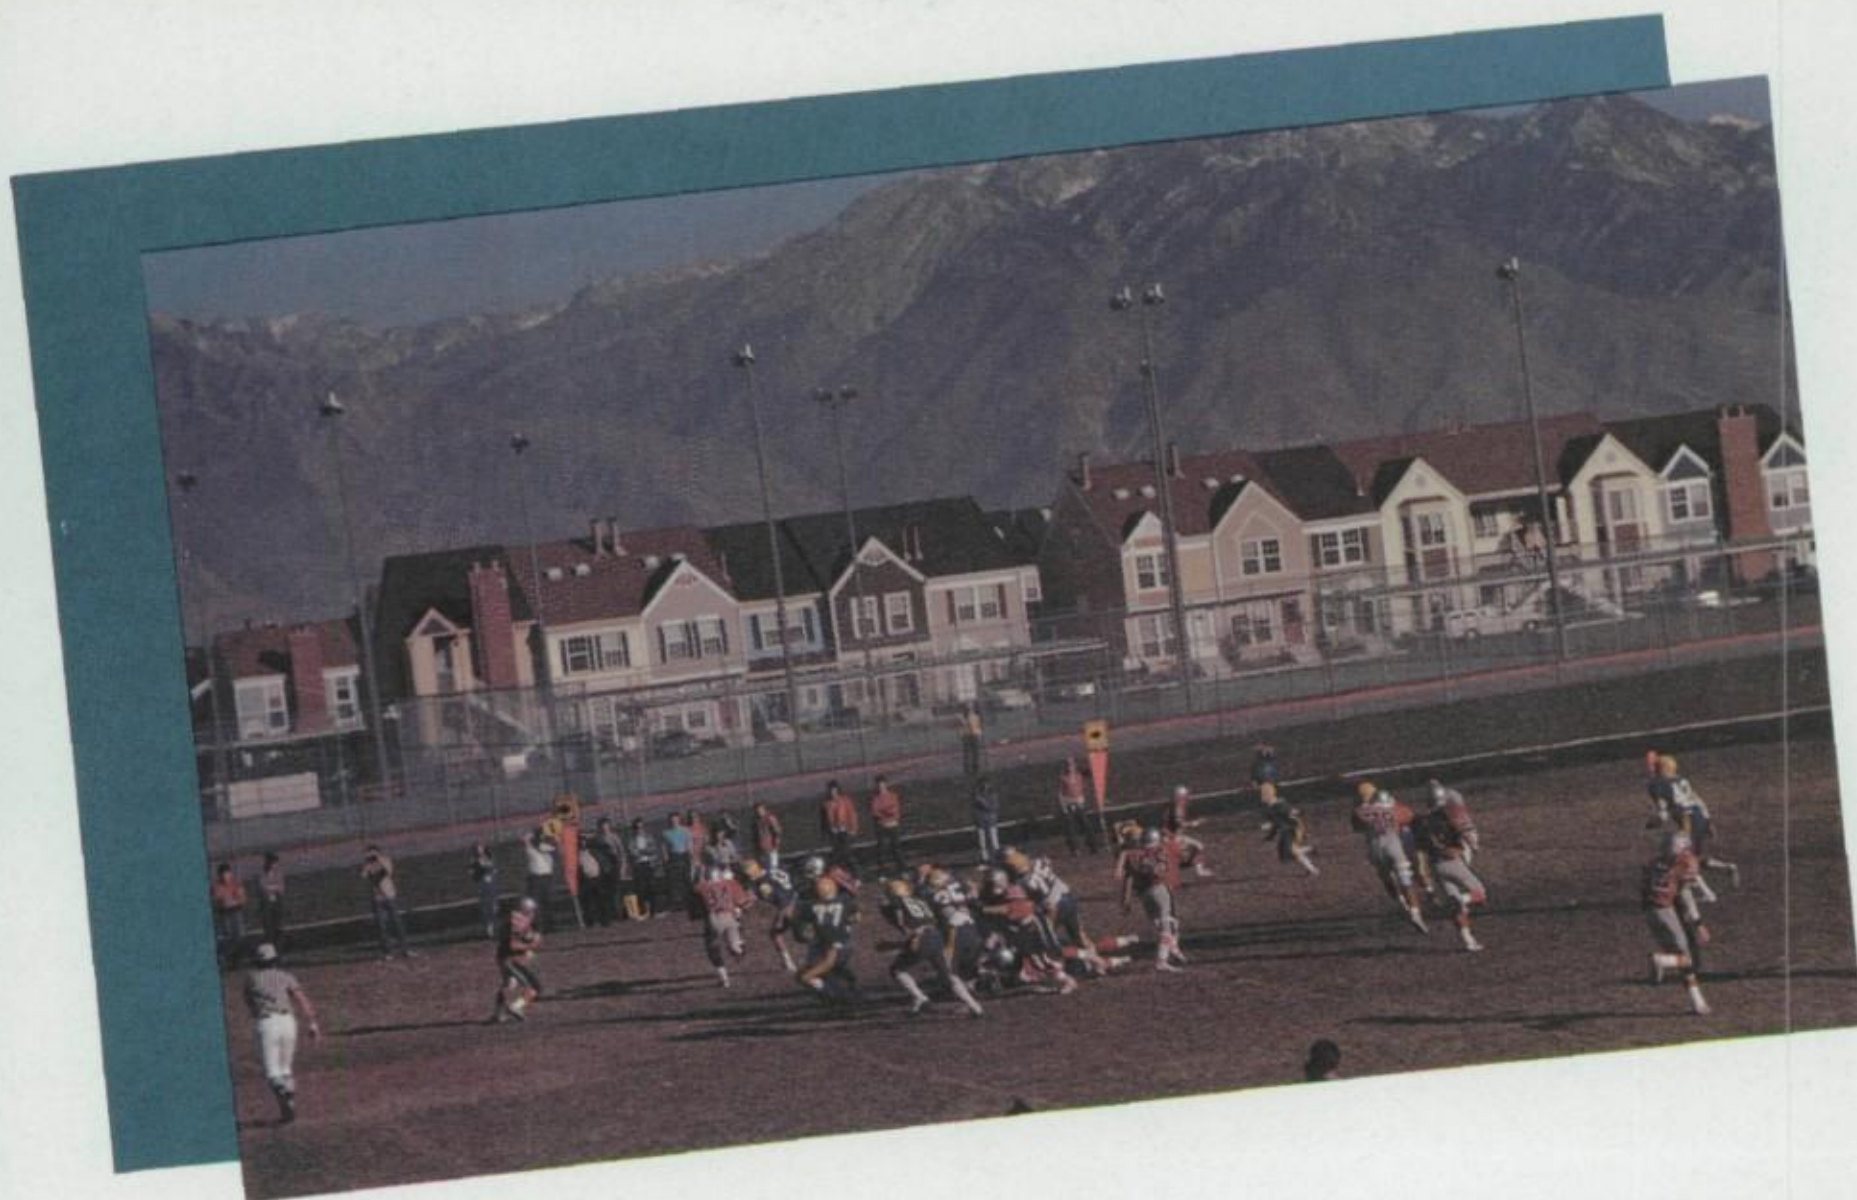

Great! Students like Granite academics.

"Sapientia Est Potentia." Cheerleaders decorate the seal for an upcoming game.

Solid foundation. Granite ... the building block of our future.

Echoes

"Where is your school spirit?" The mob of students at each door stopped! Nobody can ever accuse this school of not having pride and spirit. Thank you athletic and spirit groups for never giving up! We can all hold our heads high.

Although there are many activities, academics is the base of our foundation at Granite. Many students excel. In fact, Granite has the best teachers in the valley, because they really care about us! We'd like to thank you for the strength you have given us - it will echo throughout our lives.

As students, we will never understand what goes into school lunch, but it's the best deal you'll ever get. If you're lucky enough, take advantage of the cafeteria while you can! (Remember food in the real world doesn't come this cheap.) Through all the many high school experiences, love will be the strongest echo for some students. Remembering all those prom dates, parties and stomps will give us a warm glow for those who affected our lives.

As the year draws to a close, Seniors step into the fast lane, Juniors take over the downstairs, and Sophomores thank the Lord that the year is over. The highs and lows of our high school experiences will echo throughout the future. Just remember, don't give up - always hold your head high, for the best is yet to come.

Let's go for ten more! Granite rushes for a first down in the Taylorsville game.

Granite's victories and defeats have helped students to hold their heads high. It's not whether we win or lose a game. What matters is if we have pride in what we've done, and if we've learned a lesson from our defeats. At the alumni assembly this year the question was asked, lice use Granite grounds as a common meeting place in the warm summer months.

Changes

Many changes took place this year - all the way from seasons to studentbody officers. "Changes - what changes?" you may be wondering. Several of the major changes are listed below:

1) For the first time in years seniors were actually nice to the sophomores (until they officially closed the student lounge that is). Sophomores were then only allowed to enter on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

2) The marcheZ were the only spirit group in our school.

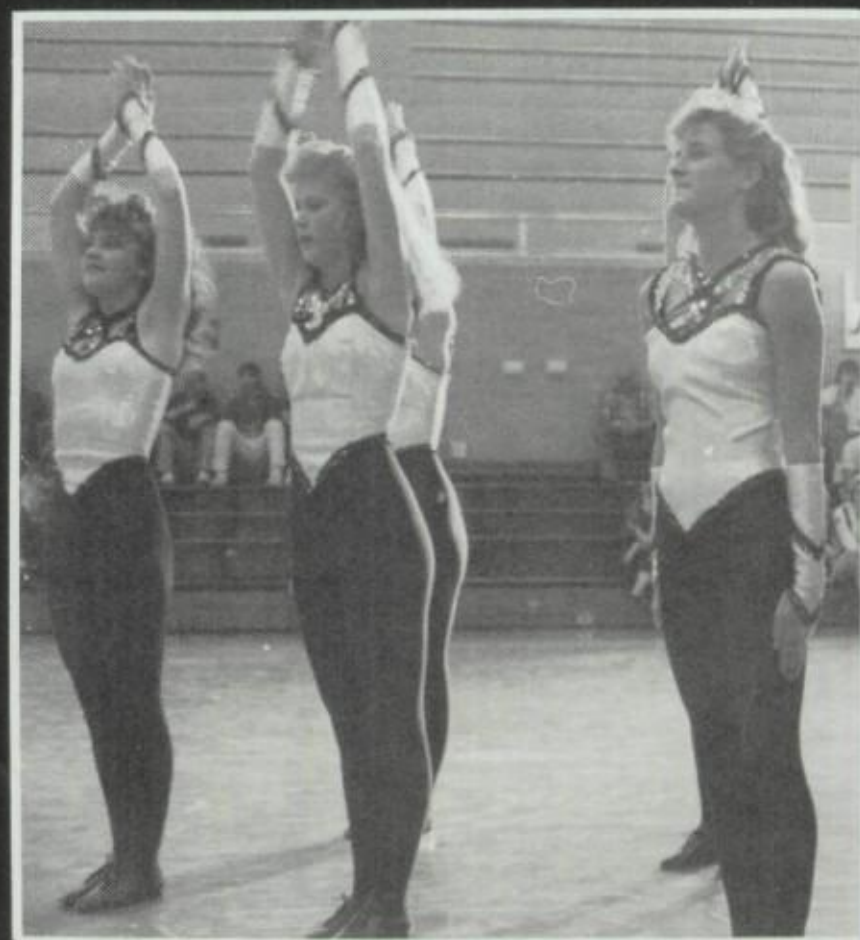

3) Seniors grew up from the sophomore stage; they finally realized what it was like to get out of school, the best way to sluff and not get caught, and how childish sophomores really are.

4) Seasons were also unusual. The sun shone into December with very little rain or snow. Of course, there were exceptions: the 3A-4A state football games were drenched and it even snowed on the BYU/Utah game.

5) Last, but certainly not least was the change in our school presidency. For the first time in 81 years we had a girl president. In fact, the girls largely outnumbered boys in studentbody offices.

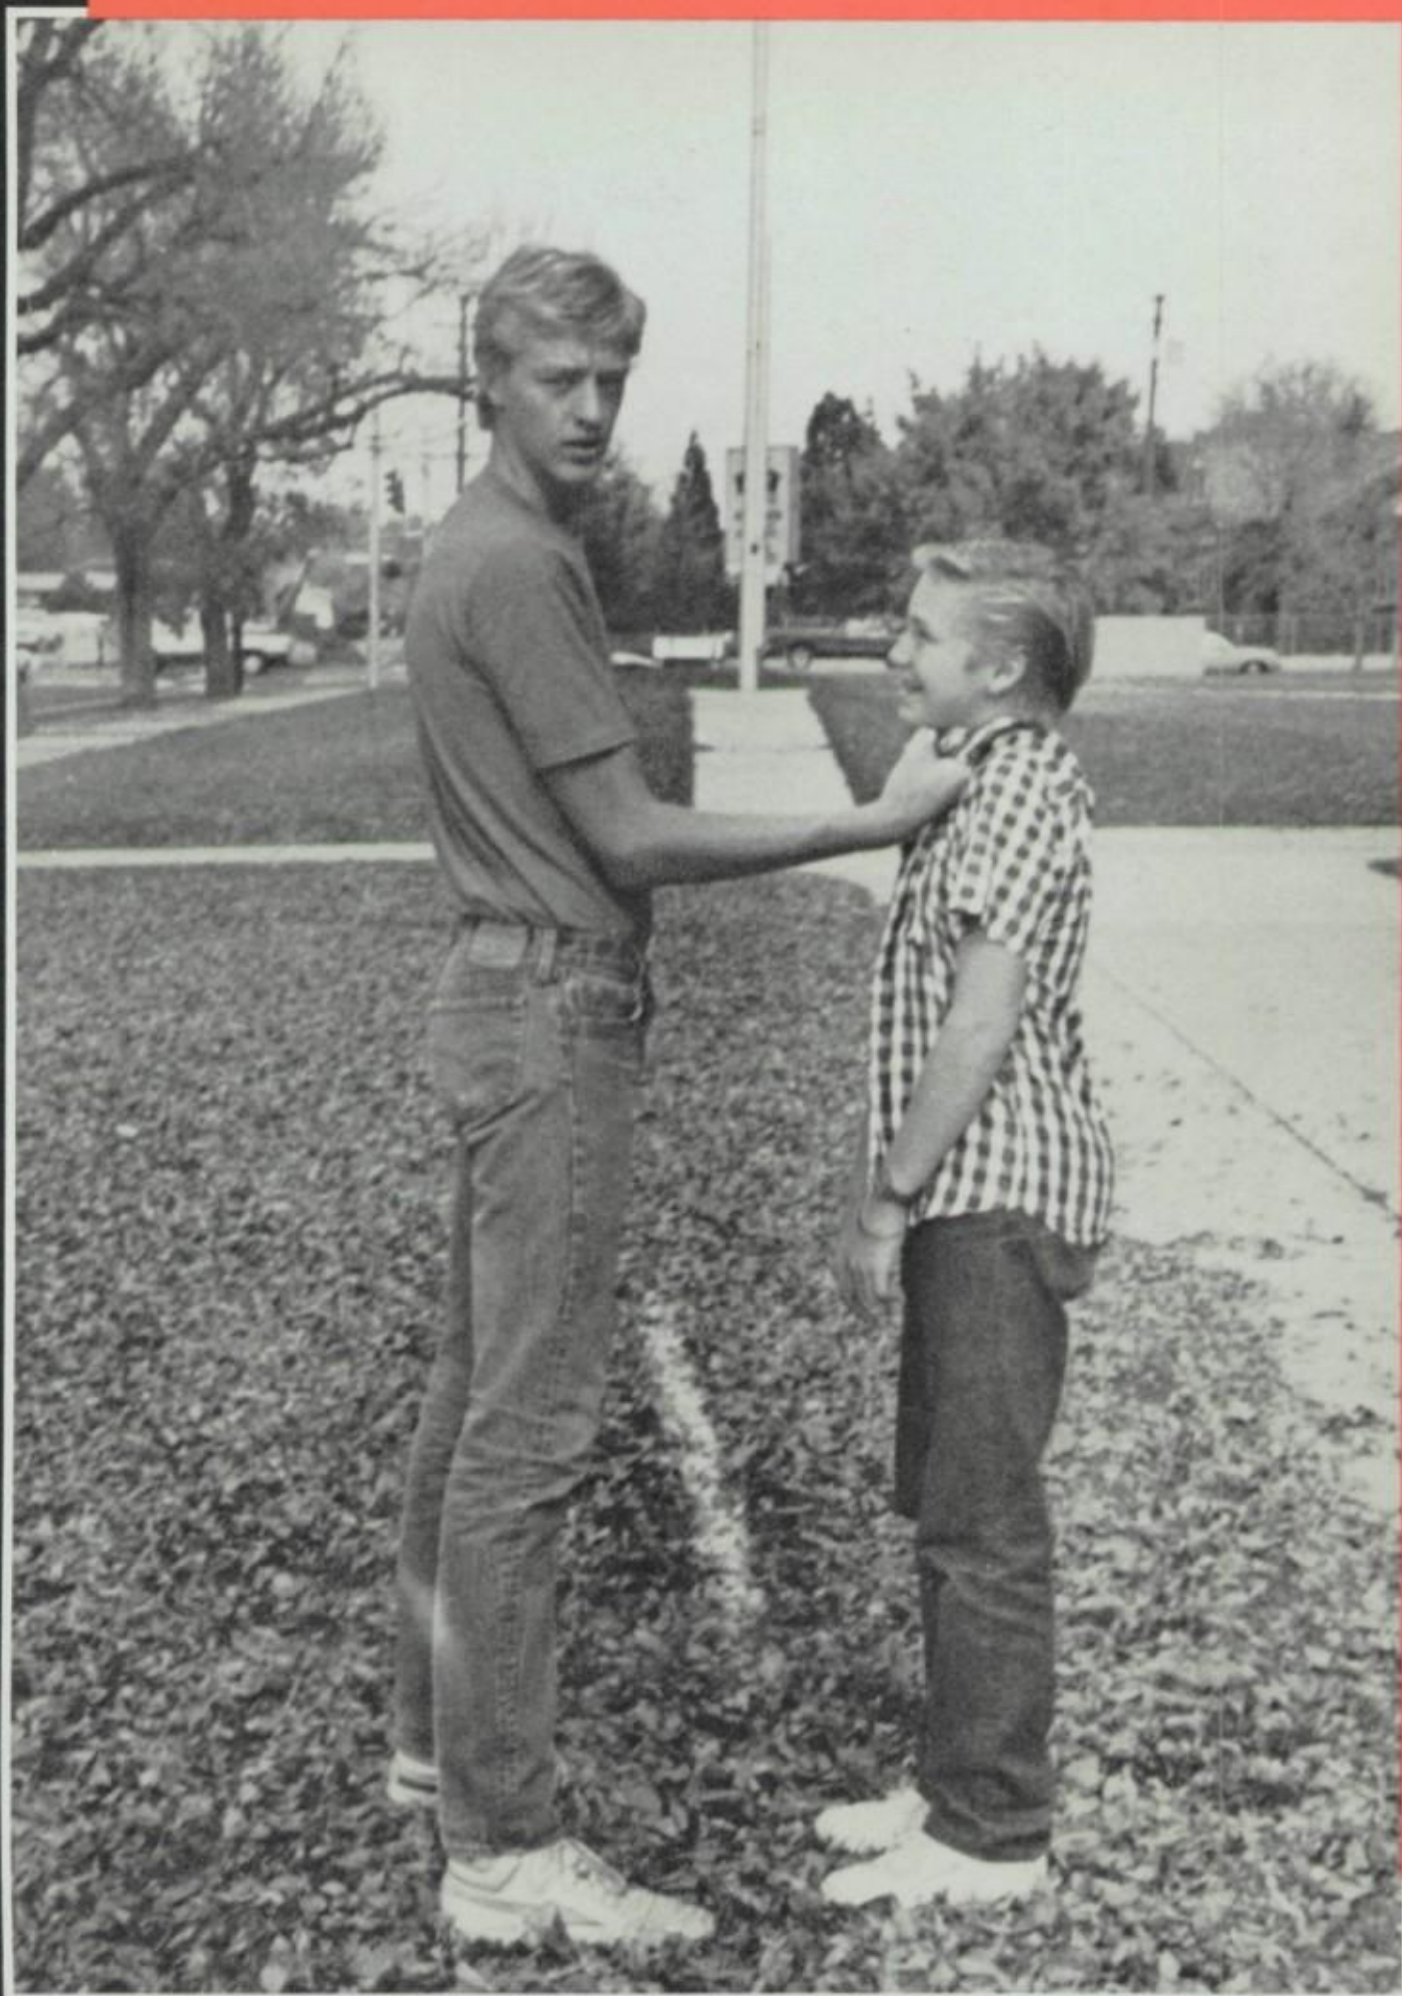

Ten-hut. MarcheZ begin another spectacular performance.

Take a peek. Mr. Mulitalo comes back from his one year sabbatical.

"Listen kid!" Gary Trost shows Garland Carter what it's like to grow from a sophomore to a senior.

Do you remember who your best friend was in kindergarten? What is it that makes a best friend? We asked some of the students here at Granite to find out. They also informed us there are many other kinds of friends. So, here are some of there responses.

A best friend: Someone you can depend on. Someone you can trust and count on. A person you can confide in and get along with. A person who is like a brother or sister.

A true friend: Someone who will always be there no matter what happens. It's here at school where people make friends that last a life-time.

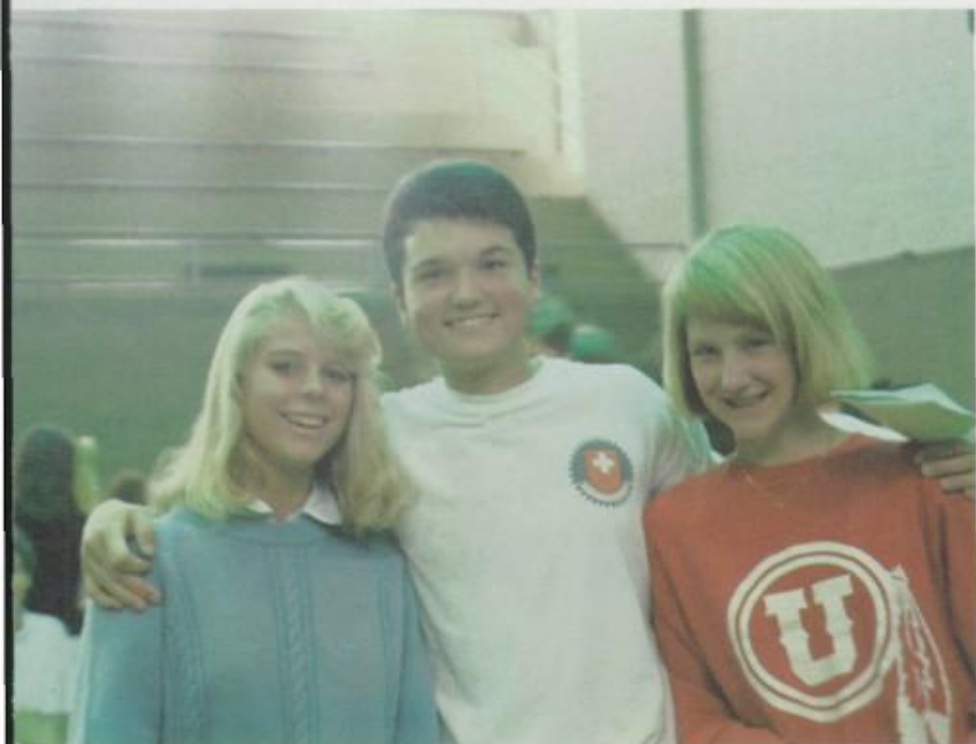

A fairweather friend: Someone who says "hi" to you in the halls, but once you leave the school grounds they no longer acknowledge your existence. Someone who always asks for favors, but will never help you out. When the going gets tough, they get going.

An acquaintance: Someone you talk to once a month and say a quick hello to in the hall. A person who knows your face, but forgets your name.

A steady boyfriend/girlfriend: Someone you go out with at least once a week, fight with once a month, and a person who bascially understands you. After you break up, you never can understand how you ever liked him/her.

All work and no play. Stephanie Farr, Hugh Black, Janae Hutchings, and Christy Sorenson show just how hard their work is.

Friends

Let's see some teeth. Caroline Baggs, Eric Boice, and Vicki Hanson enjoy Farmer's Market.

Hi There! Steve Newman, and Dan Linstruth have fun in class.

Excitement builds. Students crowd the front stairs to watch a early morning pep rally.

Caught in the act. Rosemary Vea, Shannon Simper, and Linda Vea are caught stealing some cake.

Hey Pal! Chris VanLeeuwen and Kim West show the loving spirit of Granite.

Homecoming

Though there were many highlights during Homecoming Week, our favorite was Farmer's Market. As the rain began to pour plans were changed from out in the commons area to the boys' gym. Many clubs supported Farmer's Market. The faculty and administration alike tried to burn down the school by breaking all fire codes. VICA was the guilty party as they served grilled hamburgers in the smoke filled room. The air was only cleared of lighter fluid and smoke as VICA ran out of meat. Over all though, Homecoming Week was a huge success!

Grab that ball. Granitians prepare to return the kick off.

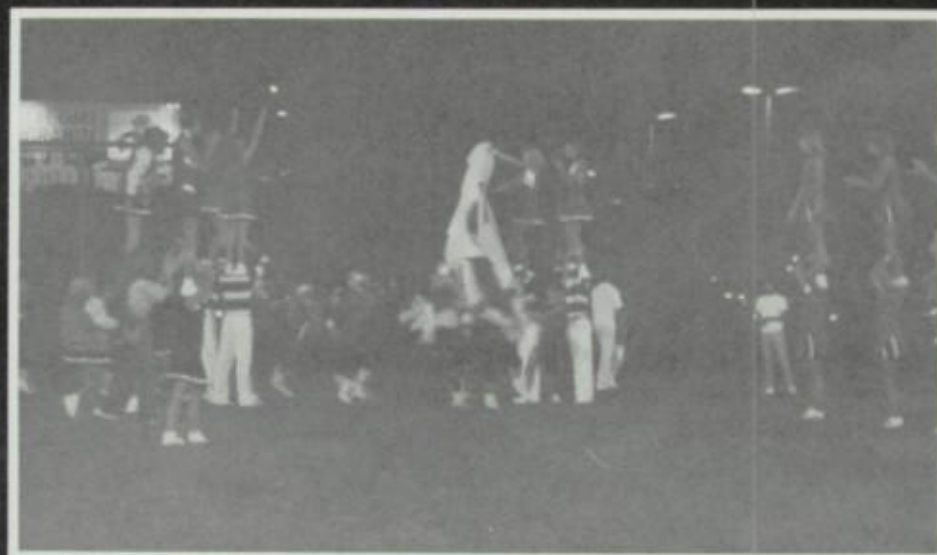

Right: Do you really think so? Alumni Stephanie Larsen and Karen Van-Leeuwen discuss the college life. Above: Let's get going. Erik Boice wants to get things started.

Isn't she lovely. Trina Hopkin, one of the beautiful queen candidates at Granite.

Top: "Are you ready?" Varsity cheerleaders start the Homecoming Parade. Above: Rip 'em apart. Football team is excited for the second half.

Above: Look at that! Officer Herbert and G. Clark enjoy Farmer's Market. Below: Look out below! A skydiver brings in the American flag for the Homecoming game. Right: Yes! A barricade proves useful for answering someone to a dance.

Highlights

Sophomore orientation, Hello week, the alumni assembly, and Homecoming were just a preview of the great activities in store for the students during the 1986-87 school year.

These activities were followed by pep assemblies, stumps, and basketball season. The Granite studentbody showed their spirit as they supported these events.

The school musical gave the Granite students a chance to show off their talents and abilities. It was a big success!

The cold weather brought about winter week and the Christmas raffle. Everyone was excited about the long Christmas vacation.

At the end of the year, we had the elections of the new student council. The climax of the year, as always, was Senior graduation.

All of the activities that went on this year helped students create memories that will last a lifetime.

"You don't say." Mr. VanLeeuwen's class wonders about the logic of story problems.

Class

"What are you doing?" my mind always wanders during math.

Some classes will be remembered though others are best forgotten. Remember these phrases teachers use that won't soon be forgotten.

1) "That works!" - Miss Wallace

2) "Let's get a little mathy and do the cosine cosine sine cheer." - Mr. Edwards

3) "Home of the Mighty Farmers." - G. Clark

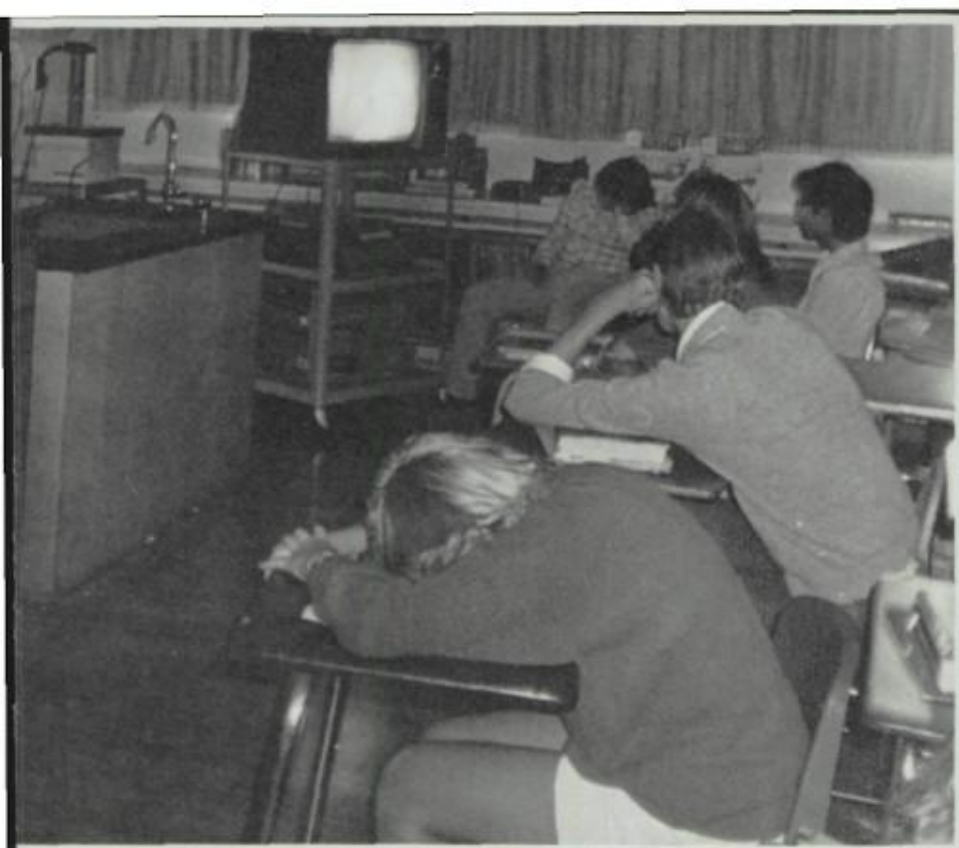

4) "Drawing is a right-side-of-the-brain activity." - Mr. Snow

5) "George Washington's white horse is white!" - Mr. VanLeeuwen

6) "Think sharp, think sharp, raise your eyebrows - it helps." - Miss McAllister

"Really!" We enjoy our biology class.

Tough meet. Cross-country team takes a break after a long meet.

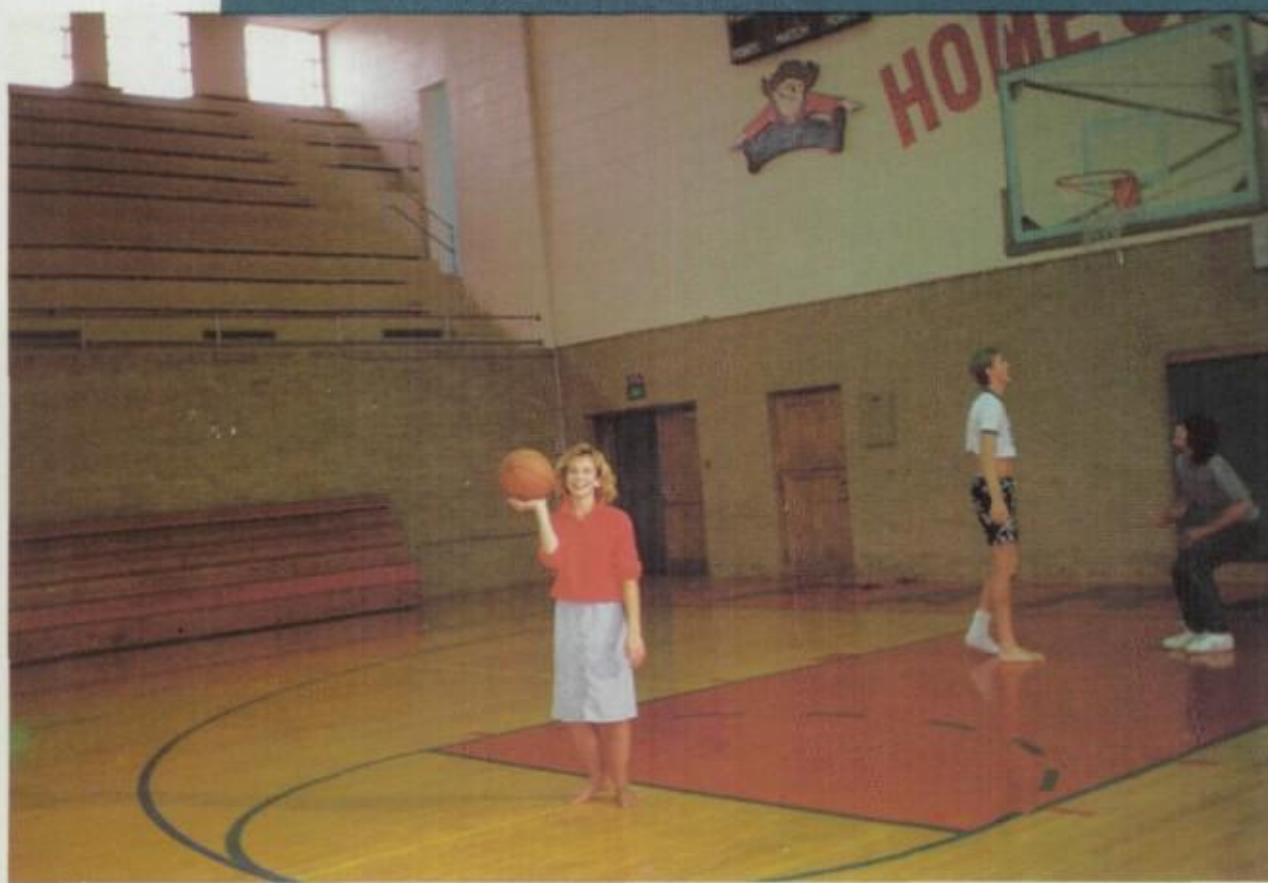

"You really think so?" students question.

Palvert-

Good luck on another year of school. Senior year can be hard to stick with, but don't give up. Be involved & do a good job - & graduate & go be glad you did. You won't have to work at 9 to 5 for the rest of your life, or come back here when you're an old man of '24!! Love me. Take care of that body and those nice long legs. Don't

Success

Desire, dedication and determination are just words, but the students at Granite High School put these words into action. Without the help and support of the teachers and administration the success we have had this year at Granite High wouldn't have been possible.

The students of Granite have shown their ability to succeed in many areas. In the academic arena Granitians strive for the fruits of knowledge. With some of the best teachers in the state, the students have excelled in the honors and A.P. programs here at G.H.S. Many Seniors have caught the eye of outstanding colleges and universities, bringing fame to Granite.

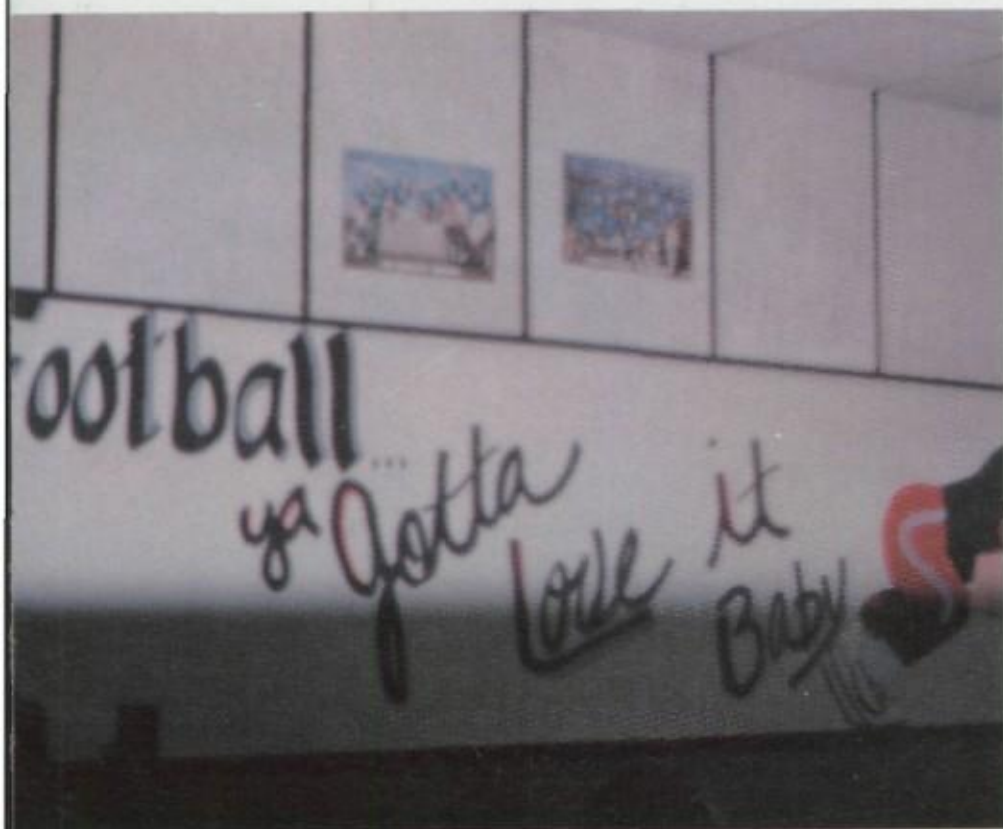

Though academics are very important at Granite, they are not the only thing Granitians do well. They have captured the Renaissance feeling and strive for a well rounded balance. In athletics, the students of G.H.S. have shown their dedication to a belief. They have devoted their time and worked as a team to see their goals fulfilled. Though they did not always come out on top, they proved they were not quitters. Their spirit rubbed off onto the studentbody, who supported them throughout the year.

Graduation was the most important time of the year for Seniors. High School years are the foundations for the future and someone who is successful in high school will be able to go on to college and a great career. Watch out world another Granite High gradute is loose!!!

Honors

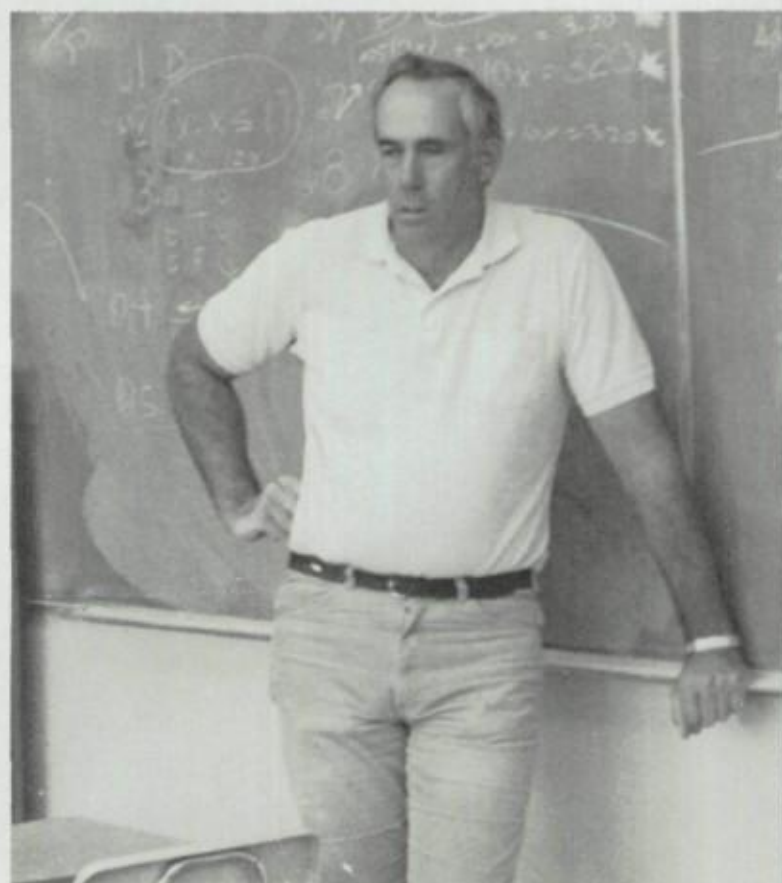

"It's tough to be an honor student. I've overcome the challenge though. In fact, I've been one for years," states Corey Langston. Granite High had many honor students this year.

A.P. teachers helped students throughout the year as they struggled with their studying in order to pass A.P. exams. As students passed the A.P. exam they were not only thankful that the year was over, but for the learning experience they had. Many students in fact passed enough exams to skip their freshman year in college.

"Thanks to the great experience we have had at Granite, we are better prepared to face the world as well rounded individuals," said Andy Draper.

Sterling

What does it take to be a sterling scholar? You may tend to think it takes just brains. It takes brains and a whole lot more.

Procrastination is one thing sterling scholars don't have the time to deal with. "It was getting toward the end - I only had ten pages left to type. It was then that my typewriter decided to run out of ribbon. I called 21 stores and went to eight - no one had my ribbon. It was then that I started typing the whole thing over. I was up until three. Boy, was I exhausted!" exclaimed Linda Veal. Being a sterling scholar can be fun - but it sure is a lot of work.

Smart (Alecks)

Granite High has some very talented students! The National Honors Society is a group of approximately 35 students and it is under the supervision of Colonel English. Mr. English commented, "It's a real pleasure to be associated with the students at Granite High School, especially those superior students who have qualified to be members of the Granitian Chapter of The National Honors Society. Our membership has increased this year as an indication of the quality students at Granite. Every so often, there comes a great class who are superior in every way." The National Honors Society is a group of students that Granite should recognize and be very proud of. The 16 top senior students at Granite compose the upper 5%. Many of these students will go on to receive scholarships for their accomplishments. Good Job!!

At The Top

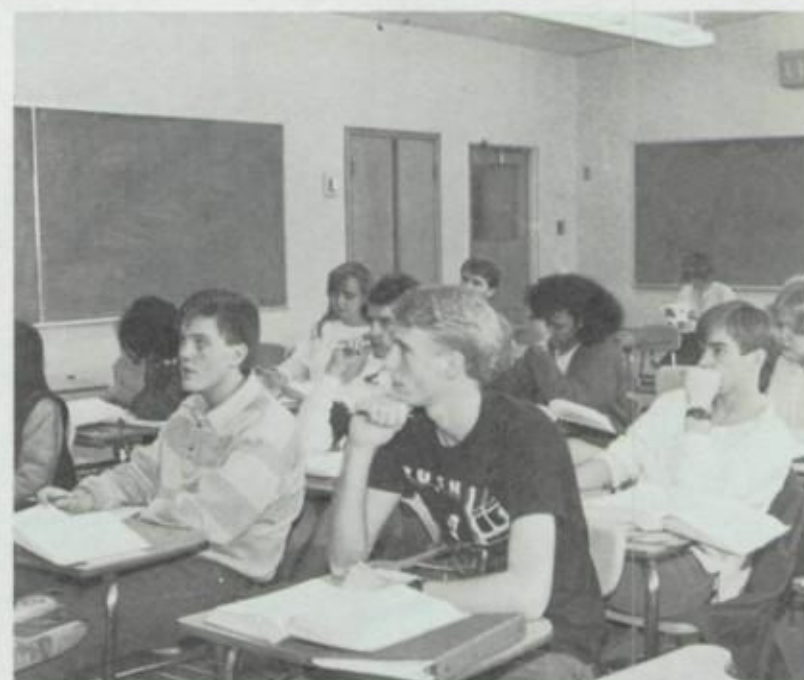

"A.P. classes are a lot of hard work," said Randy Wright, "But they do pay off in the end."

A.P. Calculus is for advanced math students, who want to attend college. Each year the Calculus Club adds up the scores at the Queens Assembly. "Mr. Edwards is a very understanding teacher," says Jenny Lofgren, "He really cares about his students."

A.P. English is a class for students who enjoy poetry, grammar, and writing essays.

The A.P. students put in a lot of hard work so they can pass the final exam. The exam gives the students 12-15 hours of college credit.

A.P.???

A. P. Chemistry is a very fun and rewarding class. Each day the class works out problems together. Many questions from the previous assignments are answered and if you have free time the U of U offers a lab course for college credit. This class is for high school students only, it can provide each student with three hours of college credit.

What do the students think about A.P. Chemistry? "It is hard work, but it does get you ready for college." What does Mr. Vanleeuwen have to say? "A.P. students are like the ape family, they go bananas over difficult problems!"

Bailey. The very word brings terror to the minds of millions of teenage persons throughout the world. But really, what is Bailey?

"Okay, class, have a good day . . . and don't forget to do your Bailey!" These words are forever immortalized in the hearts of Mr. Woods A.P. American History students. Those who did not heed these words of wisdom quickly found their A's flying out open windows.

"This has got to be the strangest group of A.P. students that I've ever had," said Mr. Wood, and he was right. When asking Hugh Black when their Bailey was due, Darlene Luker found herself in a sticky situation. The two were soon attending a "Bailey shower" held in their behalf, where the names of their newborn, twin Baileys were decided - Anna and Eugene.

When asked what she would always remember from her A.P. History experience, Wendy Kirby said, "Joan of Ark didn't build the Gaspee at Harper's Ferry."

A European equivalent to Bailey is Palmer and Colton, and it is just as greatly feared. When asked how he calms the class down when they are particularly rowdy, Mr. English says he gets just as rowdy, "I say, 'Do you want to hear a joke?' . . . you would be surprised how quickly they want to get the lesson started."

Intense: Stephanie Farr and Joe Morrison carefully begin their DBQ's.

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness.

It was the season of light, it was the season of darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us.

We were all going direct to heaven, we were all going direct the other way.

In short, it was the same as its always been, and always will be."

-Charles Dickens

A Tale Of Two Editors

Thank you Rene . . .

For always putting extra time and effort in at deadline time so everything would get done.

For arguing who was taller and for chasing me with a pair of scissors.

For letting me help you cut your hair - sorry I put your hair in farther than you wanted and made you chop off much more than needed (it sure was fun though).
Thanks for . . .

Marching around the room in your boots like a horse and driving me crazy.

Eating four pieces of pizza at deadline time - we'd hate to have you starve to death.

All your sarcastic articles and comments - DECA competition was a blast!
Thanks for . . .

Not screaming, only whimpering as I drove down the wrong side of Redwood Road during rush hour to avoid the diesel!

Remaining calm as I ran the red light - after all, we missed the truck by three inches.

Letting me drive you to Cole's and accompanying me as I went insane.

Screaming at me - so I could scream back at you (so what if everyone thought we were mad).
Thanks for . . .

Swearing at me as I flipped water at you and when you realized it wasn't Leisa, apologizing and being embarrassed.

Bringing your Fievel books to class.

Keeping me entertained during English as a visitor who was never noticed by the nameless teacher.

Finally being able to go to California after I begged you, too bad the trip got canceled.

Not giving me herpes from your cold sore.

Thanks most of all - for just being a friend, for being there when I needed you, for being understanding, and for being so fun loving. Don't forget . . . it's hangin' pretty low bud!

Jenny, I will forever be in debt to you, because you are the one who gave me my first layout, and my second, and third, and hundred millionth.

You helped me see that my hair needed to be cut, by you, and a little shorter than necessary.

Thanks Jenny for putting up with my temper tantrums and for not firing me, even when I begged and pleaded.

Thanks for letting me know that you can't fire slaves - they have to be sold.

Thanks, but no thanks, for the offer to flunk me this year, to be editor next year.

Thanks for making me go to school, so I had the choice whether to flunk or not.

All my neighbors also want to thank you for ringing their doorbells late at night, trying to find me. They appreciated it and so did I.

Thanks for saving me from UTA and for showing me what a diesel looks like close up. (They're quite large aren't they?) I'm glad you didn't laugh when I almost fainted and I appreciated your help in regaining my composure.

Thanks for letting me know that you are in fact much taller than me. Thanks for helping me grow - lots of pizza does the trick.

Thanks for driving me to Cole's practically every day, and for letting me close my eyes as we drove there since I was still a bit scared of your marvelous driving.

Thanks for talking me into going to California, helping me get the guts to ask my dad, and for not screaming when I slugged you because we weren't going after all.

Thanks for putting up with all my critical articles and for all my late work.

Your birthday was fun! Always wanted to spend my 18th birthday working on a deadline (you sure sacrificed a lot for a deadline).

Thanks for going to DECA competition with me even though we were tricked into to.

Jenny, working on the yearbook with you has been an experience I'll never forget - it has really helped me to reap the fruits of knowledge. The yearbook would never have made it without you and I think you're the greatest! GRRRRREAAATTT! Now . . . get down and boogie?

Robert-

Can you believe we are gonna be seniors? He gonna be DAD - ~~frack~~ all!

Half a Partian summer -
